

Rulers of Houses in Houses

A Collection of Astrological Interpretations

By Michelle Falis

A Collection of Astrological Interpretations

Michelle Falis

Copyright Michelle Falis 2011

Cover Design by Michelle Falis

AstroFix.net Edition License Notes

This ebook is licensed for your personal enjoyment only. This ebook may not be re-sold or given away to other people. If you would like to share this book with another person, please purchase an additional copy for each recipient. If you're reading this book and did not purchase it, or it was not purchased for your use only, then please return to AstroFix.net and purchase your own copy. Thank you for respecting the hard work of this author.

Table of Contents

Ruler of the 1st House in Houses

Ruler of the 2nd House in Houses

Ruler of the 3rd House in Houses

Ruler of the 4th House in Houses

Ruler of the 5th House in Houses

Ruler of the 6th House in Houses

Ruler of the 7th House in Houses

Ruler of the 8th House in Houses

Ruler of the 9th House in Houses

Ruler of the 10th House in Houses

Ruler of the 11th House in Houses

Ruler of the 12th House in Houses

Bibliography

About

Ruler of the 1st House in Houses

Ruler of the 1st House in the 1st House

The activities of the 1st house serve the agenda of the 1st house. You create your own persona, appearance and image, and the behaviors and mannerisms that go with them. The orientation to life is self-centered. You do things for your own satisfaction. Creating a persona is the first step to navigating through life. You are preoccupied with appearance and presence. Developing awareness helps you present a better self-image. You are preoccupied with your mannerisms. By being in tune with the image you project, you develop self-awareness. Lack of awareness of your behavior hinders your ability to get through life the way you want to. Your appearance affects your behavior. You express yourself through the way you look. You express yourself through clothing and makeup. You take on different personae to affect different mannerisms and behavior. You try on different personalities. Creating a persona helps or hinders your approach to life. The image you project affects your ability to navigate through life. You create a mask of self-awareness. By developing self-awareness you get noticed. By becoming aware of your behavior and mannerisms you make a better first impression.

Ruler of the 1st House in the 2nd House

The activities of the 1st house serve the agenda of the 2nd house. Life is oriented to discovering personal values and creating self-esteem. Your outer behavior derives from your experience of money, possessions and physical reality. Life is oriented toward obtaining physical security. Life is oriented toward addressing survival needs. You approach life by defining your survival needs. You gain self-awareness from the things that you own. Appearance is a source of security issues. The personality seeks expression through its values. Your personality seeks expression through possessions. Your personality seeks expression through a grounded, natural relationship with your body. You do what you do to ground yourself in the physical world. The way you look depends on your self-esteem. The way you look depends on how much money you have. Developing self-awareness helps develop self-esteem. Developing self-awareness helps you discover your personal values.

Ruler of the 1st House in the 3rd House

The activities of the 1st house serve the agenda of the 3rd house. Life is oriented toward communicating, gathering information and daily interactions. You have an everyday persona. Your outer behavior affects the way you read write and speak. Your outer behavior affects your sibling relationships and everyday interactions. You may seem like “the girl (or boy) next door.” You create a persona through writing, daily conversation, gossiping, teaching and daily activities. Your approach to life is directed toward daily interactions and communication. You are good at making connections. You know your town like the back of your hand. Everyday conversation and gossip determine your behavior. Attitude can help or hinder your ability to communicate. Your attitude can make communicating easier or harder. Your behavior is determined by your siblings. Self-awareness helps your communication skills. You develop an image to help communicate certain information. Self-expression focuses on communicating through the spoken or written word. Your persona is defined by the way you communicate. Appearance is something to talk about. You gossip about the way people look. You present yourself as someone who has information to communicate. Developing self-awareness helps your ability to speak and think clearly. You create a persona to assimilate information. You look to your siblings to see what type of personae you should develop.

Ruler of the 1st House in the 4th House

The activities of the 1st house serve the agenda of the 4th house. You create a persona through family involvement, giving yourself enough private time, putting down roots, and by being involved in cultural or family traditions. Your outer behavior is directed toward your experience of relationships with actual family members or with people who feel like family. Your outer behavior derives from your relationship to your country or cultural heritage. Your personality requires privacy to express itself. Your personality expresses itself best when you feel emotionally secure. Your approach is to behave as if you are interacting with family members. Your attitude can make family life easier or harder. Your behavior is determined by your parents. Self-awareness helps you build a solid emotional foundation. Life is oriented toward privacy, emotional comfort and the known. Your self-expression is focused on making yourself, and other people, feel emotionally safe. You dress and style yourself for emotional security. Developing self-awareness helps family relationships. Creating a persona helps you navigate family interactions. You express your personality best when you are surrounded by family. You are geared toward creating a family of your own (an actual family, or collecting people who feel like family). Your view of life orients itself toward domesticity. You notice family patterns.

Ruler of the 1st House in the 5th House

The activities of the 1st house serve the agenda of the 5th house. You develop a persona by being creative and giving yourself over to pleasurable activities. Your approach is oriented to having fun. Attitude to life forms from lighthearted self-expression. Your personality finds an outlet in being playful and entertaining. Your approach is to behave as if you are on stage. Self-awareness helps your self-expression. Your self-expression is focused on the arts. You use your appearance to entertain people. Developing a persona helps you navigate creative projects. You express your personality best when you are relaxing, or when you are taking risks. Your view of life orients itself toward the dramatic and romantic. Personal self-expression is paramount. Your life is oriented toward your children. Your life is oriented toward pleasure and creativity. You take note of the fun things in life.

Ruler of the 1st House in the 6th House

The activities of the 1st house serve the agenda of the 6th house. Life is oriented toward self-analysis and body awareness. You have to adjust your attitude to find employment. You have to adjust your attitude to fit in with co-workers. You must adjust your mannerisms and behavior to fit in at work. Your attitude to life helps or hinders your ability to be healthy and fight disease. Your attitude develops from interactions with co-workers and employees. Your attitude develops from daily work activities. Developing self-awareness can improve your health. Your attitude develops from your experience of illness. Developing self-awareness can improve your work performance. You create a persona through daily activities and habits. Attitude to life forms from everyday habits. Your personality finds expression through daily work. Your personality finds expression through interactions with animals. Your personality finds expression through body-consciousness. Self-awareness helps you create good daily habits. Your appearance depends on your health. You notice what people do for a living.

Ruler of the 1st House in the 7th House

The activities of the 1st house serve the agenda of the 7th house. Life is oriented toward partnership, cooperation and competition. Your appearance is based on mirroring other people. Your appearance is based on competing with other people. You groom yourself to meet your partner's desires. You develop personality traits to please your partner. Your appearance depends on your partner. Your behavior serves the needs of other people. You aim to keep the peace. Outer behavior is cooperative and placating. Your approach is to act as if you are interacting with a client or marriage partner. Attitude develops interactions with significant people. Attitude develops from your relationship with a spouse or significant others. Developing self-awareness improves your significant relationships. Developing awareness helps you accept your shadow. Developing awareness helps you know what you have in common with the enemy. You notice relationships.

Ruler of the 1st House in the 8th House

The activities of the 1st house serve the agenda of the 8th house. Life is oriented toward transformation, deep involvements with others and dealing with repressed emotions. Your personality transforms and regenerates. Your outer behavior derives from your experience of emotional intensity, sexual activities, death and intense interactions. Your personality expresses itself best when you are exploring the hidden and taboo. Your approach is to behave as if everything is a matter of life or death. Your attitude can make unconscious emotional issues harder or easier. You notice repressed feelings in other people. Self-awareness helps you let go of emotional baggage. Self-awareness helps you discover hidden gifts and talents. Self-awareness helps you discover the hidden motivations of other people. Self-awareness helps you transform and regenerate. Life is oriented toward digging through the unknown. You dress and style yourself to transform. You create a persona to help you navigate the taboo.

Ruler of the 1st House in the 9th House

The activities of the 1st house serve the agenda of the 9th house. Life is oriented toward expanding horizons. Your outer behavior derives from your experiences with people who have different cultural traditions, religious beliefs and life philosophies. Your outer behavior derives from your experiences of other countries. Your attitude derives from experiences of religion and mysticism. Your personality requires freedom to express itself. Your personality expresses itself best when you feel expansive and free. Your approach is to behave as if you are interacting with the divine. Your attitude can make relationships with foreign people and concepts easier or harder. Your behavior is determined by your beliefs. Self-awareness helps you build a personal belief system. Life is oriented toward exploration and the search for meaning. Your self-expression is focused on learning more about distant people, places and concepts. You dress and style yourself for adventure. Becoming aware of your behavior and mannerisms helps you while traveling. Developing self-awareness helps create opportunities for travel and exploration. Creating a persona helps you interact with foreign people. Creating a persona helps you navigate the mystical.

Ruler of the 1st House in the 10th House

The activities of the 1st house serve the agenda of the 10th house. You create a persona to interact with the outer world. Your outer behavior derives from your social standing, relationship with authority and reputation. Your outer behavior derives from your sense of parental approval and approval from authorities. Your outer behavior derives from your relationship with your parents. Your personality requires structure to express itself. Your personality expresses itself best when you are in an authoritative position. Your approach is to behave as if you are interacting with professionals. Your attitude can make professional life easier or harder. Self-awareness helps you succeed in the outside world. Life is oriented toward public and professional life. Your self-expression is focused on keeping up appearances and preserving your reputation. You dress and style yourself to appear professional and authoritative. Developing self-awareness helps your career objectives. Creating a persona helps you navigate the professional arena. You are geared toward creating a vocation for yourself. You style yourself to appear famous, or in anticipation of becoming famous.

Ruler of the 1st House in the 11th House

The activities of the 1st house serve the agenda of the 11th house. You create a persona through involvement with causes and associations with people who have similar interests. Your outer behavior derives from your experiences with like-minded people. Your outer behavior derives from your relationships with friends and fans. Your personality requires that you share your interests. Your personality expresses itself best when you share your creativity with other people. Your approach is to behave as if you are interacting with friends. Your attitude can make friendships easier or harder. Your attitude can make achieving long term goals easier or harder. Your behavior is determined by your friends. Self-awareness helps you build friendships. Self-awareness helps you achieve long term goals. Life is oriented toward group interactions. Your self-expression is focused on making friends. You dress and style yourself to fit in with your group. Creating a persona helps you navigate among people with the same interests. You express your personality best when you are surrounded by people with similar interests, yet, who give you the freedom to be who you are. You want to create groups that share your creative vision.

Ruler of the 1st House in the 12th House

The activities of the 1st house serve the agenda of the 12th house. You create a persona based on your dreams, fears and secrets. Your outer behavior derives from your experiences of merging with something greater than yourself. Your personality requires solitude to express itself. Your personality expresses itself best when you attempt to merge with the greater whole. Your personality expresses itself best when you dream, sleep, meditate, involve yourself in charity or spiritual pursuits and spend time alone. Your approach is to behave as if you are an escape artist. Your approach is to behave as if you are locked in your own private cell. Your approach is to behave as if you carry a secret. Your attitude can make dealing with secrets and escapist tendencies easier or harder. Self-awareness helps you come to terms with fears and family secrets. Self-awareness helps you embrace solitude. Life is oriented toward helping those in need. Your self-expression is focused on helping people acknowledge fears in order to bring them to light. You dress to hide yourself or your fears. Creating a persona helps you navigate secluded places. You express your personality best when you are alone. Life is oriented to the imaginary. Life is oriented to psychic and otherworldly activities.

Ruler of the 2nd House in Houses

Ruler of the 2nd House in the 1st House

The activities of the 2nd house serve the agenda of the 1st house. Creating financial stability, defining personal values and accumulating possessions serve the creation of an image or persona. The way that you earn an income gives shape to your personality, mannerisms and behavior. Survival needs impact your outlook on life. The need to feel physically secure shapes your appearance. The need to provide for yourself financially affects how you present yourself. You wear your possessions. You adorn yourself with valuables. Your personal values affect how you present yourself. Self-esteem has an effect on your behavior and mannerisms. You earn money with your appearance. You earn money with your ability to present yourself in a certain way. You spend money on your appearance. Feeling physically secure depends on how you look. The way you look is a safety net. You look rich. Your appearance makes you look wealthy. You spend money on haircuts, manicures, facials and clothes. You wear all your jewelry at once. People can tell exactly how wealthy you are, or are not, by your appearance.

Ruler of the 2nd House in the 2nd House

The activities of the 2nd house serve the agenda of the 2nd house. Possessions make you feel secure. You accumulate possessions for their own sake. You hoard money to feel safe. You hoard things to feel safe. You stockpile food to make sure that your survival needs will be met. You are acutely aware of securing your survival. You feel your values keenly. You collect for the sake of collecting. You earn money by being involved in finance. Having money and things is a fundamental survival need. Your values shape how you earn a living. Having things builds self-esteem. Material security is important. You feel safer by serving your own personal security needs. Feeling physically secure depends on what you own. The things you own act as a safety net. You are concerned with spending, saving and earning money more than the average person. You make sure that your bank account is full. Your checks don't bounce. You make money to spend money. You make it a point to earn your own money.

Ruler of the 2nd House in the 3rd House

The activities of the 2nd house serve the agenda of the 3rd house. Creating financial stability, defining personal values and accumulating possessions serve communication and information gathering. Your values give shape to your communication style. Your survival needs are always on your mind. Your survival needs impact your interactions with people on a daily basis. You earn a living by writing. The way that you earn money involves making local connections. You make ends meet by forming relationships with neighbors. You form neighborhood watch committees to feel safer. You use the local bank. You worry about the local economy. Your values impact your local community. You have local values. You feel safer when you serve the local community. You bring your personal wealth to the local community. Personal money goes to siblings. Your siblings are your safety net. You spend money on communication gadgets. You spend money on your siblings. You give money to local schools. You buy things for the neighborhood kids. You earn a living by working at an elementary school. You make money from blogging.

Ruler of the 2nd House in the 4th House

The activities of the 2nd house serve the agenda of the 4th house. You bring your need to feel safe and secure to your family, home, cultural inheritance and roots. Your home life impacts your feelings of personal physical safety. You gain security through family relationships and the traditions of your country or culture. Your survival needs get met by establishing a home and a sense of place. You earn a living by working in real estate. You feel safer by serving your country. You earn money by building homes. You bring your personal wealth to your family. You bring home the bacon. Your values manifest in family life. You are concerned with the financial security of your family. Personal money goes to family. You are possessive of family members. You are possessive of your cultural inheritance. Feeling physically secure depends upon family relationships. Your family is our safety net. You spend money on home and family. You have family values. You impose your personal values on your family members.

Ruler of the 2nd House in the 5th House

The activities of the 2nd house serve the agenda of the 5th house. You bring your need for physical safety and assurance to your need to have fun, be creative and take risks. You put your personal income into gambling ventures. You earn money with creative projects. You use your money for artistic projects. You spend money on children. You spend money on romantic partners. You earn extra cash by being a gigolo. You earn extra cash by being an escort. You imbue your children with your values. You look to your children for physical security. You look to your romantic partners to fulfill self-esteem. Security is found in personal self-expression. You earn money through sports. You find physical security through sports. You earn money with your hobbies. You are possessive of children. You are possessive of creative projects. You are possessive of romantic partners. You earn money through your children: child pageantry, modeling, acting, etc... Financial security depends upon your personal creativity. Your children are a safety net. You spend money on children and creative projects. Making money is a hobby.

Ruler of the 2nd House in the 6th House

The activities of the 2nd house serve the agenda of the 6th house. You bring your need for physical safety and assurance to your need to be health-conscious, practice mind-body integration, engage in meaningful daily work, set a routine and have relationships with animals. You earn money in the daily grind. You earn money through a craft. You make a living in a health-related field. You earn a living with your organizational abilities. Being healthy makes you feel physically secure. You bring your personal values to the workplace. You impose your personal values on employees and coworkers. You bring your need to earn money to the workplace: you ask for a raise constantly. Your concerns about money influence your hiring practices. Your values inform your relationships with animals: because you value all life you don't eat animals. You feel secure with animals. You earn money through pets. You earn extra cash as a dog groomer or trainer. You look to pets for self-esteem. Security is found in having a routine. You bring your personal wealth to the aid of animals. Your values manifest through your dietary and fitness habits. You are possessive of your animals. Your income impacts your health. You spend money on health, animals, office supplies and organizing. You accumulate work-related expenses.

Ruler of the 2nd House in the 7th House

The activities of the 2nd house serve the agenda of the 7th house. You bring your need for physical safety and assurance to your need for significant relationships. You look to your partner to provide financial security. You earn a living with your negotiation abilities. You earn a living through your ability to relate to other people. Being in a relationship makes you feel physically secure. You bring your personal values to marriage. You impose your personal values on significant others. Your concern for money affects your marriage decision. Your self-worth affects your partnerships. Your values inform your relationships with clients. You look to your partner for self-esteem. You earn money through client relationships. You build self-esteem through significant relationships. Money comes through business partnerships. Money comes through marriage. You are possessive of your spouse or partner. Feeling physically secure depends on your relationship with your partner. Physically security depends on your ability to confront your enemies. Your partner is a safety net. You spend money on your partner. You spend all your money on your wedding. You earn money as a marriage consultant.

Ruler of the 2nd House in the 8th House

The activities of the 2nd house serve the agenda of the 8th house. You bring your need for physical safety and assurance to your need for deep emotional involvements and peak experiences with others. Your need for physical safety and assurance is met by having sex. You earn money by being an estate planner. You earn money by working in the insurance industry. You make a living by being a financial consultant. You earn a living through your understanding of others' psychology. You seek physical security through intense relationships with other people. Your personal values impact your sex life. Your personal income impacts your sex life. You spend your money on sex. You spend your money on occult interests. You purchase things associated with death. You impose your personal values on your sex partners. You find security by going in deep with other people. Your survival needs revolve around your attitude to death. You look to sex partners for material security. Your personal finances affect your deep relationships with other people. Security is found in intense encounters. You invest your personal wealth into other people. You are possessive of sex partners. Feeling physically secure depends upon releasing emotional baggage. Feeling physically secure depends upon the support you receive from other people. You spend money to support other people.

Ruler of the 2nd House in the 9th House

The activities of the 2nd house serve the agenda of the 9th house. Your need for physical safety and assurance is met by collecting big experiences. You earn a living by being a spiritual counselor or guru. You earn a living by dealing with foreign countries and people. You earn money by working in the travel industry. You earn money as a professor or member of the clergy. You bring your personal values to your interactions with people of other cultures. You impose your personal values on people of other cultures. You find security by traveling and expanding your view of the world. You look to higher education and academia to make you feel secure. You look to religious leaders to show you your values. You look to abstract theories to provide an understanding of physical reality. You make money with your theories. Security is found in religion. Your desire for wealth affects your religious affiliation. Your values affect your feelings about religion. Feeling physically secure depends upon your personal beliefs. Feeling physically secure depends upon your level of academic achievement. Religion is a safety net. You give money to religion and higher education. You spend money to travel. You accumulate degrees.

Ruler of the 2nd House in the 10th House

The activities of the 2nd house serve the agenda of the 10th house. Your need for physical safety and assurance is met by finding your true vocation and earning a reputation. You earn a living by getting out into the world and building a career. You accumulate awards and achievements. You accumulate professions. You earn money through your reputation. Being a professional makes you feel physically secure. Being considered an authority makes you feel physically secure. You earn a living by being an authority. Your personal values impact your choice of profession. Your personal values affect your reputation and how you are seen by the world at large. You spend money on your parents. You earn money by going into the same profession as a parent. You look to big business to show you your values. Security is found in authority. Your desire for wealth affects your position in life. Your values affect how people see you in a wide context. Authority is a safety net. You spend money to enhance your reputation. You take your survival needs out into the world and try to meet them by building a reputation. You build a stable brand.

Ruler of the 2nd House in the 11th House

The activities of the 2nd house serve the agenda of the 11th house. Your need for physical safety and assurance is met by collecting friends and acquaintances. You earn a living through group involvements, organizations and affiliations. Your income depends on your ability to make friends. Having a wide circle of friends makes you feel physically secure. Having fans makes you feel physically secure. Your personal values determine which groups you get involved with. You bring your values to your groups and friends. You feel physically secure when you find groups of like-minded people. You find security by embracing social reform movements. You look to friends to show you your values. Your desire for wealth affects the movements you become involved in. Your values influence your feelings about social reform. Feeling physically secure depends upon meeting your long term goals and dreams. Friends are a safety net. You spend money on friends and causes. Safety in numbers.

Ruler of the 2nd House in the 12th House

The activities of the 2nd house serve the agenda of the 12th house. Your need for physical safety and assurance is met by going with the flow. You earn a living through involvement with institutions and the underprivileged. Your income depends upon your ability to overcome fears. You want a spiritual safety net. Having time alone makes you feel physically secure. You feel physically secure when you are involved in charity work. You find security by facing fears. You look to experiences of loss and grief to show you your values. Safety is found through meditation. Safety is found in spiritual practice. You earn a living through involvement with meditation. Your desire for wealth influences which charities you become involved with. Your sense of safety expresses itself through a need to be alone. Interactions with ghosts, apparitions, dreams and subconscious experiences are ways to feel physically secure and grounded. You earn a living by working with the paranormal. Feeling physically secure depends upon your our ability to grasp the intangible. You spend money on the disadvantaged. You spend money on private retreats. You don't know where your money goes.

Ruler of the 3rd House in Houses

Ruler of the 3rd House in the 1st House

The activities of the 3rd house serve the agenda of the 1st house. Communicating and learning about the daily environment helps form your personality. All of the daily comings and goings of life impact your persona- the way you present yourself, your mannerisms and behavior. Communication is at the forefront of your personality. Talking, writing, singing, gossiping and diary writing are part of your personality. An interest in these activities is one of the first things people notice about you. The connections you make on an everyday basis inform your personality and view of life. Your daily environment reinforces your self-image. You make connections to reinforce your self-image. What you have to say about things is right up front. Your communication affects your self-image. You're talkative. Your ability to communicate affects how you feel about yourself. Your communication style affects how other people see you. Siblings impact your self-image. Early education experiences shape the way that you present yourself. You like to talk about yourself.

Ruler of the 3rd House in the 2nd House

The activities of the 3rd house serve the agenda of the 2nd house. Communicating and gathering information serves the need to feel secure and provide material comfort. Your ability to communicate affects your ability to make money. Early education experiences affect your self-worth and self-esteem. Connections you make in the local community have an impact on your self-esteem. Siblings affect your self-worth. Gathering information is oriented toward making money. Your capacity to learn and convey information can be a source of income. Writing is a way to earn a living. Speaking, teaching and instructing are ways to earn a living. You make local connections to increase your earning power. The way you communicate affects your ability to create personal income. Your mind is oriented toward fulfilling survival needs. You write about finance and personal income. You write about personal values. You write about what makes you feel physically secure. You write about things and products. Communicating contributes to your sense of safety and security. Writing, speaking, teaching and learning build self-esteem and self-worth. You discuss issues of self-worth and self-esteem.

Ruler of the 3rd House in the 3rd House

The activities of the 3rd house serve the agenda of the 3rd house. Communicating and gathering information serves the need to make connections and use your mind. Communicating is an end in itself. You talk just to hear yourself talk. You talk about the local scene. You talk about your siblings. You want to keep the lines of communication to siblings open. You talk about your daily comings and goings and the people in your daily environment. You like being a source of information in your local community. You connect people in your local environment. You are a networker. Gathering information satisfies your curiosity. Making connections keeps your mind busy. You might be overly distracted, gossipy and focused on non-essentials. The way you communicate impacts your everyday relationships. Learning on an everyday basis is an issue-positive or negative. You write about writing. You keep a journal or blog to track your daily thoughts and ideas. You talk incessantly. Hearing and speech are issues. Incessant inner chatter. Trouble turning off the inner monologue.

Ruler of the 3rd House in the 4th House

The activities of the 3rd house serve the agenda of the 4th house. Communicating and gathering information serves the need to feel emotionally safe and connected to your family, roots and country. You gather information to help your country. You communicate about issues that affect your family and country. You report, discuss and write about family topics. You blog or journal about your family and feelings about family. You keep a journal of private thoughts. You write to feel grounded. You act as the information hub of the family. You are the one that keeps the family connected and in touch with each other. Your ability to communicate shines in privacy and at home. Your ability to communicate shines among family members and people who feel like family. Your communication style is personal, emotional and private. Your communication style affects your sense of emotional security. You hone your communication skills through interactions with family members. You look to your parents to determine your communication style. You look to your heritage and roots to see what you should talk about. You write about personal cultural traditions. You talk a lot at home. Daily conversation revolves around family and home.

Ruler of the 3rd House in the 5th House

The activities of the 3rd house serve the agenda of the 5th house. Communicating and gathering information serves creativity and self-expression. You communicate to express yourself. Your communication style is dramatic and highly personal. Your communication style is creative and entertaining. You talk about your sex life and romantic partners. You write about your sex life. You write about your children. You blog about your art and creative projects. You keep a romantic journal. You write a love advice column. Your writing has creative flair. You involve your siblings in your creative projects. You use ideas and information to fuel creativity. Experiences of early education affect your ability to be creative. You take an active role in the education of children. You bring concerns about learning and teaching to your experiences with children. You bring your communication skills to theater and the arts. You have a child-like and playful communication style. You're curious about the arts. The people in your daily environment are children. Daily conversation revolves around children, hobbies, creativity, theater or the arts.

Ruler of the 3rd House in the 6th House

The activities of the 3rd house serve the agenda of the 6th house. Communicating and gathering information serves health, employment, daily routines and relationships with animals. You take your capacity to communicate and gather information and apply it to health and diet concerns. You know what's in every bottle of vitamins. Your communication skills affect your daily work performance. The way you communicate directly impacts your relationships with co-workers and employees. You write the company manual. Thoughts are oriented to daily routine and work. Your mind revolves around your health issues. You pay attention to the daily comings and goings of the people around you and apply those observations to your daily routine. You write about habits and routines. Your mind is oriented to daily life. You are curious about the daily habits of animals. You are curious about diet and nutrition. You have an efficient mind. You walk the neighbors' dogs. You take information and organize it. You have an actively curious mind. You are actively curious about everyday life. Siblings have an interest in your health. Siblings have an interest in your daily work. The local environment impacts your health. The people in your everyday environment affect your ability to work. Your mind has an influence on your health. Daily conversation revolves around work and health.

Ruler of the 3rd House in the 7th House

The activities of the 3rd house serve the agenda of the 7th house. Communicating and gathering information serves the need to form significant partnerships. You bring curiosity to your relationships. You speak on behalf of your partner. You need a partner you can share your thoughts with. You bring your need to learn and listen to your significant relationships. You want a partner you can talk to. The way you communicate affects your relationships. You bring communication skills to relationships. You bring sibling issues to significant relationships. Your communication style can be overly compromising or confrontational. Your mind is focused on relationships. Your mind is oriented toward thinking about your partner. You think about marriage. You think about divorce. You talk, read, write, and learn about relationships. You bring your daily concerns to your relationships. You gather information to find a partner. The people you know in your daily environment become potential relationship material. Daily conversation revolves around relationships. You gather facts about relationships, weddings, clients, partners, marriage and divorce. You write about relationships. You give relationship advice.

Ruler of the 3rd House in the 8th House

The activities of the 3rd house serve the agenda of the 8th house. Communicating and gathering information serves the need to get in deep with others, delve into the unknown and release emotional baggage. Daily curiosity helps you uncover hidden talents and gifts. You bring your daily curiosity to the issues of sex, death and taboo subjects. You apply your ability to talk and listen to in-depth psychological consultations. Your communication is covert. You don't reveal your thoughts without some probing. Daily chit chat is a means of discovering the hidden motivations of other people. The daily mind is concerned with that which is not immediately apparent. You write about the occult. Being curious helps release emotional baggage. Your communication style affects your sexual relationships. You hone your communication skills through deep interactions with others. You want to talk about intimate or taboo subjects. You use your curiosity to probe other people. You gather information to understand things at a deeper level.

Ruler of the 3rd House in the 9th House

The activities of the 3rd house serve the agenda of the 9th house. Communicating and gathering information serves the need to expand your horizons, travel, and explore foreign cultures and philosophies. The way you think informs your belief system. The daily comings and goings of the people around you shapes your belief system and philosophy of life. Your communication style is broad and encompassing. Your curiosity is focused on the big subjects. Daily conversation revolves around religion, culture and belief systems. Your writing ability directs itself toward journalistic reporting and major publications. You bring your personal ideas and thoughts out into the larger world of theory and academia. Your communication skills affect your higher education. Relationships to siblings are abstract. Siblings may be from a different cultural background or live in a different country. You look to religion for a model of how to perceive the everyday people surrounding you. Communication underscores your belief system. You gather information to form a belief system. Your early education has an impact on your belief system.

Ruler of the 3rd House in the 10th House

The activities of the 3rd house serve the agenda of the 10th house. Communicating and gathering information serves your need to build a reputation, gain recognition for achievements and finding a vocation. You use daily conversations to build a reputation and achieve recognition. You want to receive status for your personal thoughts and ideas. You want to get your writing and speaking abilities noticed by the world at large. Your capacity to write, teach, speak and converse can bring awards. The way you communicate builds a reputation. You communicate to appear professional and put together. The way you communicate reinforces your position as an authority. You communicate to reinforce your reputation. The way you communicate affects your social status, for better or worse. Your thoughts affect your ability to make recognizable achievements in the world at large. You gather information for your profession. Your communication style is professional and status conscious. Daily conversation revolves around career, ambitions and the ways in which you are striving to meet your goals. Daily conversation revolves around fame and achievement. You learn languages and take speech classes to enhance your career opportunities.

Ruler of the 3rd House in the 11th House

The activities of the 3rd house serve the agenda of the 11th house. Communicating and gathering information serves the need to associate with groups of like-minded people and to work on behalf of social causes. Daily conversation revolves around social reform and movements. Daily conversation revolves around friends and mutual interests. Communication is breezy and detached. Your writing ability is used to rally together like-minded people. You think about long term goals. Your communication skills are used to gather a fan base. You use your communication skills to form movements. Your mind lends itself to broad associations. Your mind identifies with causes. Your tendency to keep a diary, journal or blog serves your causes, friendships and associations. You write about your causes and crusades. You make local connections in an effort to serve a larger purpose. You write, talk and think about social reform.

Ruler of the 3rd House in the 12th House

The activities of the 3rd house serve the agenda of the 12th house. Communicating and gathering information serves the need to help those less fortunate, to recognize and let go of fears, and to melt into formless bliss. Communication orients itself toward the spiritual and intangible. Daily connections can seem indefinable and nebulous. Communication is unfocused. Daily conversations revolve around the paranormal, spiritual and unknowable. Daily conversation is muddled and confusing. You talk in your sleep. You talk to yourself. Your communication skills affect your ability to recognize and face fears. Daily conversation is a fear. Your thoughts have a direct bearing on your fears. You think about sorrowful experiences. You write imaginatively. Writing and thinking are best done in solitude. Siblings have an effect on your fears, dreams and nightmares. You write about dreams. You keep a journal, blog or diary about your dreams. Information comes to you through dreams. You are silent. Communication occurs through meditation or channeling. You communicate through ghosts. You act as an oracle or conduit.

Ruler of the 4th House in Houses

Ruler of the 4th House in the 1st House

The activities of the 4th house serve the agenda of the 1st house. Familial relationships, cultural inheritances and family traditions serve your outlook on life and self-image. The traditions you are brought up with influence your behavior and mannerisms. Family ties, culture and tradition are at the very forefront of your personality. Your cultural ties inform your viewpoint. The traditions you grew up with dictate your appearance and how you present yourself. Your family tells you how you should look. Your ties to culture, tradition and family are one of the first things that people notice about you. Your capacity for quiet inner work is focused on the creation of a persona. You bring your private inner life to the forefront of your personality. You have a traditional viewpoint. Everything that went into building the foundation of your personality is apparent to other people. Having a family creates a self-image. "Family man." "Mother." The way you feel about domesticity has an impact on your behavior. You find emotional security through the creation of a persona. Your family and culture must orient itself to the way that you present yourself, the way that you look and the persona that you cultivate.

Ruler of the 4th House in the 2nd House

The activities of the 4th house serve the agenda of the 2nd house. Familial relationships, cultural inheritances and family traditions serve your physical security and survival needs. The familial relationships you develop must meet your survival needs. Family, culture and tradition affect how physically secure you feel. Your cultural traditions are oriented to making money. The traditions you grew up with inform your values. Family tells you how you should make a living. Your capacity for quiet inner work is focused on creating financial security. You earn a living by doing something close to your heart. You have traditional views about money and personal values. Everything that went into building the foundation of your personality affects your feelings of grounded security. Your approach to finance is clan-conscious. You approach your value system with your cultural upbringing in mind. You like to make domestic purchases. You like buying things for the house. Family life creates the urge to own things. Having a family affects the way you look at money. Having a family makes you question your survival needs. Having a family gives shape to your personal values. You find emotional security through owning material things. Home is a place where you collect things. Home is a possession. Owning a home makes you feel physically secure. Your country should be a place that espouses your personal values.

Ruler of the 4th House in the 3rd House

The activities of the 4th house serve the agenda of the 3rd house. Familial relationships, cultural inheritances and family traditions serve communication. Family interactions influence daily conversations. Family must bend to your need to be on the go and make connections. You bring your private inner self with you when you write, keep a journal or blog. Real estate is a topic of conversation. Country, home, tradition and family are topics of conversation. Relationships with parents influence the way you communicate. Your cultural traditions influence your communication style. Family traditions dictate what you talk about. Cultural upbringing has a strong bearing on your thoughts. Feeling included or rejected by your family influences your day to day interactions. Family traditions and expectations influence your capacity to write, teach and speak. Feelings about home and country influence your thoughts, writing and ideas. You find emotional security through diary writing, journal keeping, gossiping and making connections with people. You live with siblings. Home is a place to have lively conversations. Home is a place where people come and go.

Ruler of the 4th House in the 4th House

The activities of the 4th house serve the agenda of the 4th house. Familial relationships, cultural inheritances and family traditions serve the need to feel emotionally safe and secure, and to put down roots. Interacting with family members affects your feelings of emotional safety. Private time is spent with family. Family has an effect on your private inner life. Home and family are synonymous, for better or worse. Roots and traditions inform who you are at the core. Relationships with parents form your foundation. Feeling at home in the world is an issue. Feeling safe is an issue. Needing privacy is an issue. You might have an inability to wrest yourself from your family, home and heritage. Family traditions have a strong bearing on your psychological foundation. Family is an anchor. Home and family bring up strong core feelings, for better or worse. You want a family for the sake of having a family. You want a private space to call home. You want a home of your own.

Ruler of the 4th House in the 5th House

The activities of the 4th house serve the agenda of the 5th house. Familial relationships, cultural inheritances and family traditions serve personal self-expression and creativity. Your traditions are expressive and creative. You use your heritage as a means of personal expression. Family relationships revolve around children. Family traditions revolve around the arts, theater, music and play. Family traditions are creative and playful. Your inner sense of privacy and retreat expresses itself through an interest in art or music. Your inner core self expresses itself through your hobbies and interests. The foundation of who you are is oriented to romance and play. Family interactions influence your ability to relax and have fun, for better or worse. Parental relationships affect your capacity for creative self-expression. Your psychological foundation orients itself toward creative self-expression. One parent influences your creative passion. Parents take a role in the lives of your children. Home is centered on creative self-expression. Home life is oriented toward sports and creative passions. Home life is oriented to raising children. Home is theatrical and dramatic. One parent is a performer or entertainer. You live at the theater. You find emotional security through performance.

Ruler of the 4th House in the 6th House

The activities of the 4th house serve the agenda of the 6th house. Creating close familial relationships, understanding roots and embracing cultural traditions serve routine, employment, health, body-mind awareness and caring for animals. Cultural, family and country traditions influence your daily routine. Family traditions play a part in determining what type of work you will choose. Family patterns influence your view on health. Your family experience is oriented to diet and health concerns, for better or worse. Home life affects your health. You bring your inner family patterns to your daily job. You bring your need for familial relationships to job situations. Your feelings about home and family must bend to your need for daily employment. Family traditions are routine. Your parents influence your view on health and diet. Family life can feel like a job. The way you perceive your family affects the way you see employee and coworker relationships. You bring a sense of home and family to your dealings with animals. You want to take care of coworkers, employees and animals. Your inner sense of privacy and retreat expresses itself through your choice of daily routines. Your inner core self expresses itself through the work you choose to do on a daily basis. The foundation of who you are is oriented toward daily work, care for animals and health concerns. Family interactions influence your capacity for mind-body awareness. You live on the job. You seek emotional security through health and diet.

Ruler of the 4th House in the 7th House

The activities of the 4th house serve the agenda of the 7th house. Familial relationships, cultural inheritances and family traditions serve significant one-to-one relationships. Cultural, family and country traditions dictate what kind of partner you will choose. Family traditions play a part in determining who you see as the enemy. Family patterns influence your view on marriage. Your home life affects your ability to have close, significant relationships. You bring your inner family patterns to your marriage and significant partnerships. You bring your need for familial relationships to your need for significant relationships. Your ideas of what family is must meet what your partner wants. Your ideas of what home is must fit in with the partner's viewpoint. Your feelings for home and country must bend to the partner's view. Your sense of home orients itself to the needs of the partner. You find emotional security by forming significant relationships. You feel rooted when you form significant relationships. You create family traditions with your partner. You live with your partner.

Ruler of the 4th House in the 8th House

The activities of the 4th house serve the agenda of the 8th house. Familial relationships, cultural inheritances and family traditions serve the need to gain support, deal with emotional baggage, and form intimate bonds with other people. Cultural, family and country traditions influence your attitude to sex. Family traditions play a part in determining what you consider taboo. Family patterns influence your ability to deal with complex emotional situations. Home life affects your ability to form intense bonds with other people. You bring your inner family patterns to your sex life. Your need for familial relationships influences your choice in sex partners. Your idea of home must bend to serve the needs of releasing emotional trauma. Your feelings about home and country influence your ability to deal with emotional and material debt. Your psychological foundation is oriented to understanding the motivations of other people. You find emotional security by forming deep relationships with other people. You feel rooted when you form intense bonds with other people. You feel rooted when you deal with your material debts. You create family traditions that other people might find taboo. You make a home with the support of other people.

Ruler of the 4th House in the 9th House

The activities of the 4th house serve the agenda of the 9th house. Familial relationships, cultural inheritances and family traditions serve to broaden your horizons. Cultural, family and country traditions influence your attitude to other cultures and their traditions and beliefs. Family traditions play a part in determining what your belief system is. Family patterns influence your understanding of religion and mysticism. Home life affects your ability to travel and have foreign experiences. You bring your inner family patterns to your experience of other cultures. Your need for familial relationships influences the way you interact with people from other countries. Your idea of home must bend to serve your need to get out and see the world. Feelings about your own home and country influence your desire to visit other countries. Your psychological foundation is oriented to understanding the beliefs of other people. You find emotional security by understanding traditions that are not your own. You feel rooted when you gain knowledge. You feel rooted when you expand your mind. You create family traditions that are based on the traditions of other people and cultures. You make your home in a foreign country or with foreign people. You live far away from your family. You find emotional security in other countries, among foreign people.

Ruler of the 4th House in the 10th House

The activities of the 4th house serve the agenda of the 10th house. Familial relationships, cultural inheritances and family traditions serve finding a vocation, gaining recognition, becoming an authority, and securing status in society. Cultural, family and country traditions influence the way you perceive authority figures. Family traditions play a part in determining what vocation you will choose. Family patterns influence your pursuit of awards and status. Home life affects your ability to get out in the world and make a name for yourself. You bring your inner family patterns to your experience of professional life. Your need for familial relationships influences the way you make professional relationships. Your idea of home must bend to serve your need for accomplishment. Feelings about home and country influence your choice of vocation. Your psychological foundation is oriented to achieving fame and recognition. You find emotional security by assuming authority. You feel rooted when you gain responsibility. You feel rooted when you gain social status. You create family traditions that are based on your professional culture. You live at work.

Ruler of the 4th House in the 11th House

The activities of the 4th house serve the agenda of the 11th house. Familial relationships, cultural inheritances and family traditions serve long term goals, social reform and groups of like-minded people. Your cultural, family and country traditions influence who you call “friend.” Family traditions play a part in determining which groups of people you will associate with. Family patterns influence what kind of social reform you want. Home life affects your ability to realize your hopes and dreams. You bring your inner family patterns to your experience of friendship. Your need for familial relationships influences the way that you make friends. Your idea of home must bend to serve the larger community. Your psychological foundation is oriented to social reform. Your psychological foundation is oriented to bringing creative talents to an audience. You find emotional security by being involved with groups of like-minded individuals. You feel rooted when you have a cause. You feel rooted when you find your audience. You create family traditions based on your ideals of reform. You live with friends.

Ruler of the 4th House in the 12th House

The activities of the 4th house serve the agenda of the 12th house. Familial relationships, cultural inheritances and family traditions serve subconscious habit patterns, how you feel about being alone, the way you deal with grief and sorrow, and your ability to let go into formlessness. Cultural, family and country traditions influence your ability to feel comfortable being alone. Family traditions play a part in determining your bad habits. Family patterns influence what kind of charity work you do. Your experience of family life informs your understanding of charity and helping those in need. You bring your inner family patterns to your experience of solitude, meditation and spiritual retreat. Your need for familial relationships influences the way you look at spirituality. Your idea of home must bend to serve your need for solitude. Family life must bend to meet your desire for retreat. Your psychological foundation is oriented to spending time alone. Your psychological foundation is oriented to helping those in need. You find emotional security by being charitable. You feel rooted when you can be quiet and meditate. You feel rooted when you release bad habits. You create family traditions based on your ideas of spirituality. You live in isolated or spiritually oriented surroundings.

Ruler of the 5th House in Houses

Ruler of the 5th House in the 1st House

The activities of the 5th house serve the agenda of the 1st house. Creative projects, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children serve the formation of a self-image and persona. Your attitude is fun and lighthearted. Your urge to be creative and self-expressive is one of the first things people notice about you. You are playful and entertaining. Relationships with children have an impact on your outlook in life. An interest in the arts, theater, music and dance is at the forefront of your personality. Your desire for sex and romance is apparent to other people. You approach life as a romantic. Your approach is flirtatious. Your approach is dramatic. Your theatrical side expresses itself through your physical appearance. The way you express yourself is child-like and playful. You like to get attention for the way you look. You are sporty. Your hobbies and personal interests are apparent to other people. You approach life in a way that allows personal self-expression. An interest in sports or dance can shape your physical appearance.

Ruler of the 5th House in the 2nd House

The activities of the 5th house serve the agenda of the 2nd house. Creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children serve the need to own possessions, spend and earn income, and define personal values. You find creative ways to make money. You find creative ways to spend money. Involvement in the arts, music and theater are all ways that you can earn a living and pay the bills. Having children affects your self-esteem and self-worth. Children add to your personal income. You expect your children to help pay the bills. Children must adapt to your personal values. Children affect the way you spend money. Hobbies are a means of making money. Drama, theater, music, art, dance and sports are all ways to make money and pay the bills. You take risks with your money. You gamble away your money. You make risky purchases. You earn money from risky ventures. Children impact your financial security. Fun and relaxation come through being financially stable. You want to make money with your hobbies. You want your hobbies to be profitable.

Ruler of the 5th House in the 3rd House

The activities of the 5th house serve the agenda of the 3rd house. Creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children serve the need to communicate, gather information and make daily connections with people. You are creative in everyday interactions with other people. You have an expressive and dramatic way of communicating. Children impact your ability to come and go. Children influence your writing. Children influence your approach to education, teaching and learning. Your hobbies involve listening and talking, learning and teaching. Your interactions with children are geared toward school and daily activities. Romance and fun express themselves through a love of reading and writing. You write romance novels. You read romance novels. You write about your sports heroes. Your hobbies revolve around reading, writing and conversation. Fun is found through gossiping. Relaxation comes through conversation and writing. Sports activities are local. You act in the local theater. You perform for local schools. You take risks with the way you communicate. You communicate in a playful and lighthearted way. You illustrate books.

Ruler of the 5th House in the 4th House

The activities of the 5th house serve the agenda of the 4th house. Creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children serve the need to feel emotionally safe, put down roots, develop familial relationships and build a psychological foundation. You are privately creative. Hobbies and interests are pursued in the privacy of your own home. You have a craft room. You keep a scrapbook of family memories. You are self-expressive around family members. You enjoy relaxing and having fun with family. Children help build your sense of home. Children complete the family. Children stay at your home. You run a home daycare. You prefer hobbies you can pursue in the comfort of your own home. You have to fit your creative projects in around your family commitments. Romance and fun are expressed privately. Your hobbies might include home repair, construction, real estate, home decoration, interior design, scrap booking, ancestry, etc... Hobbies are oriented to cultural traditions. You find romance with people who come from the same cultural background. Relaxation comes through traditional activities and hobbies. You might be involved in traditional dance or playing traditional music. Relaxation comes through going home to your place of birth. You like traditional sports. Your love of drama and theater comes through in feelings of patriotism and family pride. You're willing to take risks when it comes to your family, home or country. You want your family to approve of your hobbies, interests and romantic partners. You bring creative projects home with you.

Ruler of the 5th House in the 5th House

The activities of the 5th house serve the agenda of the 5th house. Creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children are an end unto themselves. You like being creative for the sake of being creative. You are creatively self-expressive. You like to be entertaining to attract attention. Children make you feel creative. Being creative makes you feel like a child. Your creativity is fun and playful. You are in love with love. Being romantic gets your creative juice flowing. You date for fun and pleasure. You see children as a creative extension of yourself. Sports are a means of creative self-expression. You like drama for the sake of drama. You like taking creative risks. Children make you relax. Romance and sex make you relax. Creative projects are fun. You love idle days. You pursue hobbies for self-satisfaction. You love creative, dramatic, artistic and theatrical children and romantic partners. You take risks in sports. You take risks in romance. You engage in risky love affairs. Love affairs are fun. Gambling is fun. You engage in risky gambling. Self-expression comes through music, art, dance and theater. You are flamboyant. Romance and fun go hand in hand. You're willing to take risks on behalf of children. You always have time to stop and smell the roses.

Ruler of the 5th House in the 6th House

The activities of the 5th house serve the agenda of the 6th house. Creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children serve the need to be healthy, employed, have a routine and interact with animals. You find ways to use creativity on the job every day. Creativity goes toward maintaining employment. You find creative jobs for your employees. Your sense of fun expresses itself through your daily work. You find fun and pleasure in interactions with animals. Your hobbies involve animals. You use creativity in dealing with employees and co-workers. You decorate the office. You find relaxation with pets. Your involvement with sport, dance, theater or the arts affects what kind of daily employment you choose. Children have an effect on what kind of employment you choose. Your experience of play time and fun impacts what kind of daily employment you choose. Children have to fit into your daily routine. Working with children is part of your job. Creative talents and gifts make you more employable. Dramatic self-expression and theatricality come through in the way you interact at work or with animals. You perform with animals. You find romance and pleasure on the job. Hobbies, relaxation and creativity must fit into your daily routine. You want a risky job. You like working with risky animals. You are dramatic about the way you diet and exercise. You are creatively self-expressive at work. You take risks with your health. Taking care of your health is a hobby. Playing with animals is a hobby. You're willing to take risks with animals.

Ruler of the 5th House in the 7th House

The activities of the 5th house serve the agenda of the 7th house. Creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance, and interactions with children serve the need to form equal one to one relationships. You bring creativity to your partnerships. You use creativity in your approach to marriage. Your creative self-expression comes through in negotiations. You get dramatic and theatrical about marriage. You get dramatic and theatrical about your open enemies. Creativity goes toward maintaining equal relationships. Creativity serves your relationship with your partner. Self-expression comes through in significant relationships. Romance and pleasure are aimed at finding “The One.” Relaxation, pleasure, sex and fun are ways to connect with a significant other. Romance is a way to connect with the Shadow. Children seal a marriage or relationship. Hobbies and interests are ways for you to meet that special someone. Involvement in sports, dance, theater, art and music are ways to make significant relationships. You want to take up the hobbies and interests of your partner. Your self-expression changes to meet the desires of your partner. You want a partner who has the same creative interests. You want a partner who has equal interest in the arts or sports. You are a risky negotiator. You are a creative negotiator. You find creative ways to deal with your open enemies. You take risks with marriage. You have a child-like approach to marriage.

Ruler of the 5th House in the 8th House

The activities of the 5th house serve the agenda of the 8th house. Creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children serve emotional baggage, debt, legacies, transformation, taboos, the occult, sexual activities and depth interactions with others. You find relaxation and pleasure through maintaining other people’s property. You express yourself through sex, deep interactions, the occult and the taboo. You have a creative approach to sex and the taboo. Your approach to sex and deep experiences is dramatic and self-expressive. Self-expression depends on the support you get from other people. You rack up gambling debts. Self-expression depends on how much debt you have. Being creative revolves around taboo or occult topics. Your experiences with children may be emotionally difficult- perhaps you work with children who have been sexually abused. Play time and fun come through peak experiences of highs and lows. Children have to adjust to fit into your need for transformation and intense experience. Creative talents and gifts are hidden. Your dramatic self-expression and theatricality are expressed through releasing repressed emotions. Lighthearted sex is a way to transform and regenerate. Relaxation comes through intense sexual activities. Hobbies revolve around the taboo or occult. Hobbies revolve around managing other people’s money. You have hobbies that involve death- taxidermists. You take risks with your life. Your capacity for risk-taking affects your ability to gain support from other people. You take risks with sex. You take risks with other people's money.

Ruler of the 5th House in the 9th House

The activities of the 5th house serve the agenda of the 9th house. Creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children serve the need to expand your horizons. Creativity goes toward higher education. Earning degrees is a hobby. You use creativity in the way that you interact with people of foreign countries, religions and cultures. Your approach to religion and mysticism is creative. Your approach to religion and mysticism is dramatic and self-expressive. You don't take your studies seriously. Your interest in dance, theater, art and music is influenced by your experiences of foreign cultures. You explore dance, theater, art and music by traveling. Being creative helps expand your horizons. Children expand your horizons. Children affect your belief system. Your involvement with art, theater and music affects your belief system. Being involved in sports requires that you travel. Your involvement with children extends overseas. Leisure time and relaxation are spent traveling abroad. Children must be able to travel. You have a dramatic and theatrical approach to higher education. Romance is found by traveling abroad. Romance is found with people of other cultures, religions and beliefs. Hobbies, relaxation and creativity must fit into your need for expanding horizons. Journalism is a way to express your interest in creativity. You start an art magazine. You start a cultural publication. You become a sports journalist. You take risks when traveling. Your approach to religion is risky. Your approach to other cultures is risky.

Ruler of the 5th House in the 10th House

The activities of the 5th house serve the agenda of the 10th house. Creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children serve the need to build a reputation, gain recognition and become an authority. Creativity comes through in your choice of vocation. You use creativity in the way that you interact with other professionals. Your self-expression gives you a reputation. Being creative garners awards and accolades. Involvements with children affect your choice of vocation. You relax in the company of professionals. You find fun and pleasure through your profession. Hobbies can become a profession. Art, theater, dance or sports can be a profession. Children have to adjust meet your need for recognition and social standing. Creative talents and gifts help your social standing. Romance is found out in the professional world. Hobbies, relaxation and creative pursuits must enhance your position as an authority. You can become an authority on your personal interests. You can become an authority on dance, music, theater, art, sports or other creative pursuits. You can become an authority on romance. Affairs affect your social standing and reputation. Affairs affect your climb up the professional ladder. Relaxation fits in around your professional obligations. You take risks in your professional life. You become known for being a risk-taker. Your capacity for risk-taking affects your reputation. You flirt on the job. You want to be seen as a romantic person. You want people to think you're entertaining and fun to be around. You get a reputation for not taking things seriously.

Ruler of the 5th House in the 11th House

The activities of the 5th house serve the agenda of the 11th house. Creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children serve the need to form groups, make friends, be involved in social causes, fulfill long term goals and gain an audience. You use creativity in group situations. You are self-expressive among friends. Creativity comes through in your choice of social movements and causes. You use art, music, theater and dance to create social reform. You relax with friends. You share your personal creative interests with friends and groups of like-minded people. You want an audience for your personal interests and hobbies. You need an audience for your artistic and creative pursuits. Being creative serves your long term goals and dreams. Children have an effect on what kind of long term goals you choose. Children impact the social causes you become involved with. The need for fun and romance impacts what kind of social reform you want to see in the world. Children come second to friendship. People are attracted to you because of your creativity and self-expression. Your dramatic self-expression comes through in group activities. You want to have romances with friends. You turn lovers into friends. You express creativity with friends. You take risks on behalf of friends. You take risks on behalf of social reform. You take risks on behalf of causes.

Ruler of the 5th House in the 12th House

The activities of the 5th house serve the agenda of the 12th house. Creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children serve the need to release grief and sorrow, spend time alone, melt into formless bliss, escape from reality and become aware of the self-undoing. Hobbies and interests revolve around spirituality and the paranormal. Dance, art, music and theater help you escape from reality. You use creativity in interactions with those less fortunate. You use dance, theater, art and music in our involvement with charity and institutions. Self-expression comes through solitude. You are self-expressive when you are alone. Children have an effect on which charities you become involved in. You relax and have fun by going on spiritual retreats and meditating. You have a vision for institutions. Your creative pursuits force you to spend time alone. A lonely child. You become involved with children's hospitals or art programs for inmates. Your creative talents and gifts help those less fortunate. Dramatic self-expression and theatricality come through when you are alone. You have romantic fantasies about ghosts. You like hobbies that you can do alone. Relaxation comes through finding ways to let go of reality. Your love of drama and theater expresses itself in our escapist tendencies. You take risks in the ways you try to escape from reality. Risky behavior is the self-undoing. Involvement in the arts can be the self-undoing. Involvement in sports can be the self-undoing. Involvement with children can be the self-undoing.

Ruler of the 6th House in Houses

Ruler of the 6th House in the 1st House

The activities of the 6th house serve the agenda of the 1st house. Health-consciousness, interactions with employees and coworkers, daily routines and relationships with animals serve the formation of an image, persona, behavior, mannerisms and approach to life. Your daily routine revolves around your image. Daily routines revolve around maintaining your appearance.

Health-consciousness is one of the first things that people notice about you. An attention to work is one of the first things that people notice about us. Relationships with animals give shape to your approach to life. Relationships with animals impact your outlook on life. Daily routines have an effect on your approach to life. Health issues impact your approach to life. Your attention or lack of attention, to your diet, nutrition and exercise routines impacts the way you present yourself. Relationships with employees and coworkers impact your outlook on life. You act like an employee. You approach life as if you were an employee. Health is found through paying attention to physical appearance. Diet and nutrition play a part in your appearance. Diet and nutrition inform your approach to life. An interest in diet and nutrition is one of the first things people notice about you. You have to adjust your daily routine to your behavior and approach to life. The work environment revolves around your need to present an image of yourself. Health issues begin when you lose your sense of direction.

Ruler of the 6th House in the 2nd House

The activities of the 6th house serve the agenda of the 2nd house. Health-consciousness, interactions with employees and coworkers, work environment, daily routines and relationships with animals serve material security, spending and earning money, personal values and self-esteem. Daily habits revolve around ways to make money. Daily routines revolve around making ends meet. Your interest in animals can lead to a way to earn money. Your interest in animals leads you to spend money. Your work environment needs to provide material security. Having a daily job makes you feel financially secure. Having servants makes you feel secure. Losing a job threatens your sense of physical security. Relationships with animals help shape your personal values. Relationships with animals affect your self-esteem. Daily routines have an effect on your self-esteem. Diet, nutrition and exercise affect your self-esteem. Health issues impact your self-esteem. You need to find a way to reconcile health concerns with self-esteem. Daily vitamins, health foods and exercise programs are ways to spend and earn money. Health issues begin when you are out of touch with your survival needs. Relationships with animals put you in touch with your survival needs, for better or worse. Health issues impact your personal finances. Health issues impact your survival needs. Employees and coworkers help you earn or spend money. Daily practice builds self-esteem.

Ruler of the 6th House in the 3rd House

The activities of the 6th house serve the agenda of the 3rd house. Health-consciousness, interactions with employees and co-workers, daily routines and relationships with animals serve communication and information gathering. Daily routines involve writing, teaching and making small interactions with other people. The daily work environment involves writing, communication, teaching and making small daily connections. You are a working writer. Daily routines revolve around siblings. The work environment must allow us to use your communications skills. Your work environment includes lots of E-mailing, Twitter, Facebook, blogging and other social media. You want your work environment to be stimulating. You want your work to involve writing, teaching and communication. You like being able to take short trips around town while working. Your daily job is a way to make connections with people. Animals have an impact on the way you communicate, or what you write about. Health issues have a bearing on the way you communicate. Daily habits are formed around writing and communication. The work environment revolves around siblings. Health issues begin when you are out of sync with your need to communicate. Relationships with animals put you in touch with your communication needs. You bring a work ethic to communications.

Ruler of the 6th House in the 4th House

The activities of the 6th house serve the agenda of the 4th house. Health-consciousness, interactions with employees and coworkers, daily routines and relationships with animals serve emotional security, building a psychological foundation, familial relationships, roots and heritage. The daily work environment involves family. You work from home. You work with your family. You have family routines. Your daily habits revolve around your parents. Habits and routines are set up to meet family life. The work environment must fit the needs of your family. Interactions with employees and coworkers affect us to the core. Taking care of your health makes you feel emotionally secure. You need to take care of your health to feel rooted. You need to take care of your health to take care of your family. Your approach to diet affects your family. Your approach to your health affects your family. You work in real estate. You work every day so you can buy a home. Animals have to find a way to fit into your home. Animals must fit into your family. Exercise becomes part of the family routine. Health issues affect your home life. Health issues impact your family relationships. Relationships with animals put you in touch with your psychological roots. Animals become like family. Coworkers and employees are like family. You bring a work ethic to the way you interact with family members. Work issues affect your home life. Your ability to keep a job affects your family.

Ruler of the 6th House in the 5th House

The activities of the 6th house serve the agenda of the 5th house. Health-consciousness, interactions with employees and coworkers, daily routines and relationships with animals serve creativity, self-expression, fun, relaxation, hobbies, children and risk-taking. The daily work environment must serve your need to be creative and self-expressive. The daily work environment should be a place that allows you to relax and have fun. You want a creative work environment. Daily habits and routines revolve around your need for art, music, theater and dance. The work environment must bend to your need for self-expression. Relationships with employees and coworkers can turn into romances. Taking care of your health allows you to explore your creativity. You bring your health concerns to romance. The way you approach diet, nutrition and exercise affects your ability to engage in artistic activities and sports. Your interest in health and exercise manifests through an interest in sports or dance. Your approach to health affects your children. Your work environment is a theater, dance studio, music hall or art studio. Animals become muses. Your relationship with animals has an impact on your creativity. Animals become your source of fun and pleasure. You involve animals in your relationships with children. You bring a work ethic to your creativity. Animals become like children. You treat your employees and coworkers like children.

Ruler of the 6th House in the 6th House

The activities of the 6th house serve the agenda of the 6th house. You create habits and routines that focus on health, work, and relationships with employees, coworkers and animals. You create routines for the sake of having a routine. You have routines for your animals. You become a slave to routine. Daily habits are geared to maintaining employment. Daily habits are geared to maintaining health. You want to stay healthy enough to work. You work with animals and pets. You are involved in animal health care. Veterinarians. Pet groomers. You create healthy snacks for pets. You are involved with labor unions and labor issues. You expect employees and coworkers to work with a routine. Your obligations to pets create a routine for you. You want a pet-friendly work environment. Your daily habits impact your ability to find a job. Obsessive-compulsive about habits and routines. You work in a health-related field. Dietitians, nutritionists and fitness instructors. Health technicians. You work as an organizer. You work as an occupational therapist. Vocational placement specialists. Head hunters. Mind-body therapists. Specialists of all kinds. You bring a work ethic to your approach to diet, nutrition and exercise. Practice makes perfect. Trainers. Systems analysts.

Ruler of the 6th House in the 7th House

The activities of the 6th house serve the agenda of the 7th house. Health-consciousness, interactions with employees and coworkers, daily routines and relationships with animals serve partnerships, marriage and equal relationships. The daily work environment must serve your need to form relationships. The daily work environment should be a place that allows you to work with people one on one. You want a social work environment. Daily habits and routines revolve around partners and marriage. You work with your spouse or significant other. The work environment must bend to your need to find equality. You want relationships with employees and coworkers to be equal. Employees and coworkers can turn into marriage or business partners. Taking care of your health allows you to find a partner. You bring health concerns to significant relationships. Your approach to health, diet and exercise affects your significant relationships. Your approach to diet, nutrition and exercise affects your ability to engage people in significant relationships. Your daily habits revolve around getting into confrontations. The way you approach employees and coworkers leads you to get into confrontations and form open enemies. Animals need to meet your need for equal relationships. Your work habits have a direct effect on your significant relationships. You expect chores to be distributed evenly. You treat employees and coworkers as if you were married to them. You bring a work ethic to your significant relationships. You treat marriage like a job.

Ruler of the 6th House in the 8th House

The activities of the 6th house serve the agenda of the 8th house. Health-consciousness, interactions with employees and coworkers, daily routines and relationships with animals serve attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep. The daily work environment must serve your need to form deep relationships. The daily work environment should be a place where you can have deep interactions with others. The daily work environment should allow you to work with other people's resources. You work in a tax-related field. You work in a funeral home. You work in estate sales. You want an intense work environment. Daily habits and routines revolve around sexual needs. The work environment must bend to your need to dig below the surface. Relationships with employees and coworkers are transformational. Employees and coworkers become sex partners. You get into deep emotional entanglements with employees and coworkers. Your concerns about health affect your approach to sex. Your attitude to work affects your capacity for transformation. Health and nutrition affect sexual performance. You use your knowledge of diet, nutrition and exercise to help other people transform. You specialize in matters of life and death. You use your capacity for specialization to work with other people's money. Diet, health and exercise fit into your approach to psychology. Relationships with animals create transformations within you. The daily habits and routines that you set for yourself are geared toward dealing with other people's stuff. Your work habits have a direct effect on your sex life. You approach sex as if it was a job.

Ruler of the 6th House in the 9th House

The activities of the 6th house serve the agenda of the 9th house. Health-consciousness, interactions with employees and coworkers, daily routines and relationships with animals serve expanding horizons, long distance travel, interactions with people of different cultures, religions and philosophies, and the formation of a belief system. The daily work environment must serve your need to expand your horizons. The daily work environment needs to fit within your belief system. The daily work environment should allow you to travel. You work overseas. You work in a church, as a professor or as a journalist. You work with people of foreign cultures. Your working environment is philosophical, metaphysical or religious. Daily habits and routines revolve around your personal belief system. Coworkers and employees must share your beliefs. Relationships with employees and coworkers expand your horizons. You specialize in higher education, travel or philosophy. You specialize in metaphysics. Your work involves abstract theory. Theologians. Your attitude to health and nutrition fits your philosophy of life. You use your knowledge of diet, nutrition and exercise to help people of other cultures. You impose your attitude to diet and nutrition onto people with different belief systems. Relationships with animals must fit your personal belief system. Daily habits revolve around religious or metaphysical activities.

Ruler of the 6th House in the 10th House

The activities of the 6th house serve the agenda of the 10th house. Health-consciousness, interactions with employees and coworkers, daily routines and relationships with animals serve building a reputation, gaining social status, finding a vocation and becoming an authority. The daily work environment must serve your need to act as an authority. The daily work environment affects your reputation. Relationships with employees and coworkers affect your reputation. Your daily work is directed toward building a career. Your daily work habits affect how well-known you become. Your working environment is professional. You work with authorities on a daily basis. Daily habits and routines revolve around your professional life. Employees and coworkers can become authorities. You specialize in vocational placement. You are a life coach. You bring your concern for health out into the professional world. You make a career out of an interest in diet, nutrition and health. You make a career out of your work with animals. You become known for your daily interactions with animals. You become known for your attitude to work and labor. You build a reputation for yourself by working one day at a time.

Ruler of the 6th House in the 11th House

The activities of the 6th house serve the agenda of the 11th house. Health-consciousness, interactions with employees and coworkers, daily routines and relationships with animals serve connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans. The daily work environment must serve your long term hopes and dreams. The daily work environment should allow you to make friends and connect with like-minded people. Your daily work is directed toward social reform. Your daily work habits affect how many fans you gain. Your working environment is social. You work with friends on a daily basis. Daily habits and routines revolve around your social causes. Coworkers and employees become friends and share an interest in your causes. Employees and coworkers can become your greatest fans. You specialize in working with large groups of people. You share your concerns for health and diet with your friends. You gain an audience for your views on health and diet. Your daily interactions with animals influence which social causes you get involved with. Your daily work environment influences the social causes you get involved with and the friends that you make.

Ruler of the 6th House in the 12th House

The activities of the 6th house serve the agenda of the 12th house. Health-consciousness, interactions with employees and coworkers, daily routines and relationships with animals serve the need to release grief and sorrow, spend time alone, melt into formless bliss, escape from reality and become aware of the self-undoing. The daily work environment must serve your need to let go. Sticking to precise daily routines is difficult. Daily routines may revolve around finding ways to escape. You use pills, drugs, exercise or food as a way to escape. You desire to escape from daily responsibilities. The daily work environment allows you to be charitable and help those less fortunate. You work alone on a daily basis. Your attitude to daily work and routines can be the self-undoing. You work in an institution, museum or hospital. You do volunteer work. Your daily routine revolves around your need to have time alone. Daily activities must work around your need to have time alone. You work for welfare. You're on welfare. Daily work involves helping those less fortunate. Coworkers and employees affect feelings of grief and sorrow. Attitudes toward employees and coworkers can contribute to the self-undoing. You specialize in spirituality, the paranormal or meditation. You get physically healthy by paying attention to your spiritual welfare. You realize health by meditating, praying and taking time out. You care about the health and diet of people in institutions. You become a dietary planner for a prison, hospital or school. Animals become involved in your experiences with ghosts and the paranormal. You use your relationships with animals to escape. You get health advice through dreams.

Ruler of the 7th House in Houses

Ruler of the 7th House in the 1st House

The activities of the 7th house serve the agenda of the 1st house. Cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships, and negotiations serve the image, persona, behavior, mannerisms and appearance. You choose a partner who enhances your appearance. You want a partner who likes you for the way you look. Your partner reinforces your self-image. Your open enemies have an effect your image. You create an image to reflect, or deflect, your enemies. Your projections onto other people have an influence over how you present yourself. The way you cooperate or cause conflict is one of the first things people notice about you. The need for a partner is one of the first things people notice about you. Your attitude to contracts and negotiations is one of the first things people notice about you. Business partnerships influence the mask you wear. Business partners encourage the image you have of yourself. Open enemies and partners have to contend with the mask you wear and the image you present. Partners have to bend to your behavior and mannerisms. Negotiations and contracts serve your appearance and approach to life. Partners have an effect on your attitude to life. You have a diplomatic approach to life. You act like the devil's advocate. You use relationships to build a persona. Your understanding of fairness influences your behavior and mannerisms. You are polarizing.

Ruler of the 7th House in the 2nd House

The activities of the 7th house serve the agenda of the 2nd house. Cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations serve financial stability, defining personal values and accumulating possessions. You choose a partner who gives you money. You want a partner who will contribute to your material well-being. Your partner adjusts to your spending and earning habits. Your partner shares your attitude toward physical things. The way you cooperate or cause conflict has an effect on our personal income. Our capacity for negotiation and diplomacy can be a way to earn money. Partners have to bend to fit your self-worth and self-esteem issues. Open enemies affect your self-esteem and self-worth. Open enemies affect your personal income. Negotiations and contracts serve your personal income. Partners serve your personal income. You use your capacity for diplomacy to make a living. You use your capacity for significant relationships to build financial security. You want a partner who can make us financially secure. You enter business relationships to add to your personal income. You sign contracts that bring money. You sign contracts for possessions and ownership. Marriage partners influence what you own. Business partners must agree with your way of spending and earning money. Business and marriage partners must agree on the things you want to own. Partners encourage us to build your personal wealth. You're married to your money and your stuff.

Ruler of the 7th House in the 3rd House

The activities of the 7th house serve the agenda of the 3rd house. Cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations serve communicating and gathering information. You choose a partner you can talk to and who will listen to you. You want your significant partner to be mentally alert and conversational. You want a partner who will listen to what you have to say and who takes an interest in your everyday relationships. The partner needs to adjust to your communication and learning style. The partner needs to fit into your local network. The way you cooperate or cause conflict has an effect on the way you communicate. You negotiate through writing, speaking, teaching and other forms of communication. Open enemies affect your ability to think. Negotiations and contracts revolve around communication, siblings and your local activities. Significant relationships affect your writing. You write a blog about relationships. Your partner is always on your mind. Business relationships revolve around communication, teaching and writing. Marriage partners influence what you have to say. Business partners must agree with your way of interacting with people on an everyday basis. Business relationships are based on communications. Partners encourage you to communicate. You're married to your ideas.

Ruler of the 7th House in the 4th House

The activities of the 7th house serve the agenda of the 4th house. Cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations serve emotional security, building a psychological foundation, familial relationships, roots and heritage. You choose a partner who will fit into your family. You want a partner with whom you can make a home and start a family. Your partner contributes to your sense of home. Your partner needs to bend to your culture and heritage. Your partner needs to adjust to your attitude toward home, family and roots. The way you cooperate or cause conflict has an effect on your family relationships. Your capacity for negotiation and diplomacy serves your family or culture. You practice family law. Relationships fit around your need for private time. You have open enemies at home. You are open enemies with people in your family. Significant others give you roots. You build a sense of family with your significant other. Your partner is your family. Being tactful and diplomatic is part of the core of who you are. Significant relationships build your foundation. You find business partners among family members. You choose a partner who feels like family. Partners encourage you to put down roots. You're married to your family.

Ruler of the 7th House in the 5th House

The activities of the 7th house serve the agenda of the 5th house. Cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations serve creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children. You choose a partner who is romantic and playful. You want to be with someone who brings pleasure and fun into your life. Partners support your creative self-expression. Partners help you with artistic projects. You want to get married so you can have children. Business relationships revolve around art, music, dance, sports and theater. Business partners become lovers. Business partnerships are creative and expressive.

You sign contracts and negotiations involving art, music, dance, theater and sports. Significant relationships fit around your need to pursue hobbies and pleasure. Significant relationships fit in around relationships with children. The way you cooperate or cause conflict has an effect on your relationship with your children. You choose a childish partner. Your capacity for negotiation and diplomacy helps or hinders your creative process. Open enemies affect your self-expression. You find open enemies while engaging in creative pursuits. Partners must adjust to your need for risk taking. Partners encourage you to gamble and take risks. You negotiate art and music contracts. You marry for love. You're married to your children.

Ruler of the 7th House in the 6th House

The activities of the 7th house serve the agenda of the 6th house. Cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations serve the need to be healthy, be employed, have a routine and interact with animals. You choose a partner who will fit into your daily routine and activities. You choose a partner who has the same job that you do. You choose a partner who has the same interest in animals that you do. You choose a partner who has an equal interest (or lack of) in health, diet and fitness. Partners have health issues. Business relationships impact your health. Negotiations and contracts revolve around health, diet and fitness. Negotiations and contracts revolve around animals. Negotiations and contracts revolve around work, labor, employees and coworkers. You bring your attitude to marriage to your work. Business relationships revolve around animals, diet, fitness and daily routines. Marriage partners become coworkers or employees. Partners have to adjust to your relationships with your pets. The way you cooperate or cause conflict has an effect on your daily work relationships. You choose a partner who likes routine. You're married to your job.

Ruler of the 7th House in the 7th House

The activities of the 7th house serve the agenda of the 7th house. Cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations are an end unto themselves. You choose partners with whom you can go into business. Marriage partners are business partners, business partners are marriage partners. You want to be with someone who is cooperative. You want a partner who is a good negotiator. Partners can become open enemies. You fight with your partner openly. You have strong feelings or opinions about the contractual nature of marriage. "Marriage is nothing but a piece of paper." Marriage is nothing but a contract. Marriage is binding. The relationship isn't real unless you get married. Business partners have to sign contracts. You like contracts because they are fair and unbiased. You treat marriage like a negotiation. Your attitude to significant others is as if they are a business partner. The partner needs to be willing negotiate and cooperate with you. You marry a lawyer. You become a law partner. You negotiate with open enemies.

Ruler of the 7th House in the 8th House

The activities of the 7th house serve the agenda of the 8th house. Cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations serve attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep. You choose a partner who provokes emotional confrontations and emotional highs and lows. You want to be with someone who can handle your emotional baggage. Partners have to adjust to your financial debt. Partners add to your financial debt. You want to get married so you can share mutual financial resources. Getting married brings you up against your attitude to life and death. Business partnerships revolve around shared resources, taxes, estates, inheritances, insurance and death. Business partnerships are intense. Marriage partners must adjust to your need to explore the occult and taboo. Contracts and negotiations revolve around death, taxes, estates, shared resources and inheritances. The way you cooperate or cause conflict has an effect on your potential inheritance. The way you cooperate with others determines how much you owe. You choose an intense partner. You choose a partner who is interested in taboo sexual practices. You choose a partner for the sex. Open enemies have a say in your inheritances and your debt. You are married to your secrets.

Ruler of the 7th House in the 9th House

The activities of the 7th house serve the agenda of the 9th house. Cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations serve the need to expand your horizons, travel, and explore foreign cultures and philosophies. You find your significant partner in a foreign country. Your partner needs to be broad-minded. You want to be with someone who likes to discuss philosophical topics. You want to be with someone who supports your need to travel. Partners help you expand your horizons. Marriage is an adventure. Business relationships revolve around travel, publishing, journalism, religion, philosophy, belief systems and culture. Business partners share your religion or belief system. Significant partners must share your belief system. Your attitude to marriage is based on your understanding of religion and philosophy. You sign contracts and negotiations involving publishing, higher education and travel. Foreign diplomats. Higher education negotiations. Religious law. Cultural laws. Marriage philosophy. Relationship gurus. Your experience of marriage or divorce changes your belief system. You marry a foreign diplomat. You marry a journalist. Your open enemies are people from other cultural or religious backgrounds. Your open enemies are from other countries. You're married to religion.

Ruler of the 7th House in the 10th House

The activities of the 7th house serve the agenda of the 10th house. Cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations serve your need to build a reputation, gain recognition for achievements and find a vocation. You choose a partner who will help your career and reputation. You want a partner who will boost your visibility in the public eye. You want a partner who has ambition. You want a partner who will help you find your place in the world. Partners support your professional goals. Partners help you achieve status. You want to get married so you can be seen as having achieved a significant relationship. You want your marriage or business partnership to be widely recognized. You make business relationships with other professionals. Business partnerships help you achieve authority. The partner needs to fit in around your professional life. Having a significant relationship is second to having a career. The way you cooperate or cause conflict has an effect on your reputation and status. You choose an authoritative, established partner. Your capacity for negotiation and diplomacy helps or hinders your achievement in the world. You're married to your reputation. You marry a trophy wife or husband.

Ruler of the 7th House in the 11th House

The activities of the 7th house serve the agenda of the 11th house. Cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations serve connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans. You choose a partner who is also a friend. You choose a partner who shares your passion for social reform. You choose a partner who shares your long term goals and dreams. You find your significant partner through the groups and clubs you belong to. You find your marriage partner over the internet. Your partner has to fit in with your friends and groups. You want to be with someone who likes to be social yet gives you independence. You want to be with someone who supports your causes. You want your partner to be your biggest fan. Marriage can feel more like a friendship than a love relationship. Business relationships revolve around clubs, groups, causes and mutual interests. Business partners are among your greatest fans. Business partners share your interests. Business partners are friends. You negotiate for groups, causes and social reform movements. You take up causes that involve marriage rights. You sign contracts and negotiations involving unions and guilds. You're married to a cause.

Ruler of the 7th House in the 12th House

The activities of the 7th house serve the agenda of the 12th house. Cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations serve the need to release grief and sorrow, spend time alone, melt into formless bliss, escape from reality and become aware of the self-undoing. You choose a partner who helps you escape from reality. You choose a partner who makes you aware of the ways you sabotage yourself. You choose a partner who respects your need for time alone. You want a partner who seems ethereal or elusive. You want a partner who is spiritual and otherworldly. Your partner likes to meditate. Your partner does dream work. Partners support your forays into the paranormal. Business relationships can be the self-undoing. Contracts can be the self-undoing. The desire for marriage can be the self-undoing. Marriage partners might reinforce your bad habits. Marriage makes you aware of your bad habits. Open enemies appear in dreams. Marriage partners come to you through dreams. Marriage partners are ghosts.

Marriage partners cause you grief and sorrow. Open enemies are ghosts. You argue in your sleep.

Ruler of the 8th House in Houses

Ruler of the 8th House in the 1st House

The activities of the 8th house serve the agenda of the 1st house. Transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep serve the image, persona, behavior, mannerisms and appearance. A tendency to live life at extremes is one of the first things people notice about you. Your desire for depth and intensity is one of the first things people notice about you. Your sexuality is one of the first things people notice about you. The debts you owe impact the way you present yourself. The image you present is one of a person who has emotional baggage. Your deep interactions with other people impact your behavior and mannerisms. An interest in shared finances is one of the first things people notice about you. Your attitude to life and death is one of the first things people notice about you. Your interest in occult subjects is one of the first things people discover about you. Your sexual activities influence the image you present. Sex partners have to contend with the mask you wear and the image you present. Sex partners have to bend to your behavior and mannerisms. Peak emotional experiences influence your approach to the world. Sex partners have an effect on your attitude to life. You approach life as if it were an investigation. Your interest in the occult has an effect on your appearance. Your interest in death and the occult influences your approach to life. The money you have tied up with other people affects your approach to life. Your capacity for research and investigation is one of the first things people discover about you. You approach the world as if you were a detective.

Ruler of the 8th House in the 2nd House

The activities of the 8th house serve the agenda of the 2nd house. Transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep serve financial stability, defining personal values and accumulating possessions. Emotional entanglements help you define your values. Sexual activities help you define your values. Sex is a survival need. You use your capacity for research and investigation to earn a living. You need to adjust your debt to your spending and earning habits. Inheritances affect your personal wealth. Your attitude to life and death affects your basic survival needs. Your capacity for deep emotional interactions with others can help you earn a living. Your interest in the occult can help you pay the bills. Debt affects your self-esteem and self-worth. You view sexual partners as possessions. You want to possess occult knowledge. Your ability to understand the motivations of other people helps you make money. You'd have sex for cash. You recycle other people's things to earn cash. Peak emotional experiences make you feel physically secure. You enter sexual relationships in search of financial security. Shared resources add to your personal wealth. Sex affects the way you spend and earn money. Sexual partners have a say in what you own. Inheritances affect your survival needs. Transformations influence your self-worth.

Ruler of the 8th House in the 3rd House

The activities of the 8th house serve the agenda of the 3rd house. Transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep serve communication, information gathering and everyday interactions. Emotional entanglements affect the way you think and communicate. Sexual activities influence what you write, teach and talk about. You write detective stories. You keep a sex journal. You write a blog about sex and psychology issues. Sexual issues come up between you and your siblings. You bring your need for peak emotional experiences to your everyday interactions. You use your capacity for research and investigation in your writing. You bring intensity to everyday interactions. You are a researcher. Inheritances affect your sibling relationships. Inheritances affect relationships with neighbors. Your attitude to life and death affects your relationship with your siblings. You write macabre stories. You write about occult subjects. Deep emotional exchanges with others are part of your everyday interactions. Your interest in the occult is something you talk about on an everyday basis. Debt affects your ability to learn. Sexual repression affects your communication. Sexual partners become part of your everyday circle. Sex partners need to adjust to your everyday relationships with other people. Sex partners need to adjust to the way you communicate. Your sex life becomes the topic of a blog. Your ability to understand other people's motivation gives you something to write and talk about. Talking to the dead is an everyday occurrence. Peak emotional experiences make you feel mentally alert. Transformations influence the way you think.

Ruler of the 8th House in the 4th House

The activities of the 8th house serve the agenda of the 4th house. Transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep serve emotional security, building a psychological foundation, familial relationships, roots and heritage. Your complex emotional entanglements influence your core psychological makeup. Sexual issues are part of your cultural inheritance. Being part of an intense union makes you feel emotionally secure. Intense exchanges occur in family situations. Sexual tension permeates your home life. You use your capacity for research and investigation to explore your psychological foundation. Shared debt is a family issue. Inheritances help or hinder your family. Your attitude to life and death affects your relationship with your family members. Your need for a peak experience affects your emotional security. Your capacity for deep emotional interactions with others expresses itself best with people who feel like family. Your interest in the occult has a positive or negative effect on your family. Sexual partners help you feel rooted. Sexual partners become part of your family circle. Understanding the motivations of other people helps you understand your family and your roots. You have sex to feel emotionally secure. Death affects your family. Peak emotional experiences occur in the privacy of your own home. Shared resources add to feelings of emotional security. Sexual partners have to adjust to your cultural inheritance. Transformation affects your psychological foundation.

Ruler of the 8th House in the 5th House

The activities of the 8th house serve the agenda of the 5th house. Transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep serve creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children. You need depth even in lighthearted romance. Romantic relationships and dating take on a life or death feeling. You elicit peak emotional experiences in what should be 'fun' exchanges. Emotional entanglements compel you to take risks. You have risky sex. You take risks with other people's resources. Stock brokers. Sex is for creating children. Sex is for pleasure and relaxation. Sex is your favorite hobby and sport. You use your capacity for research and investigation in your hobbies. You are an amateur detective or private investigator. You have to adjust your sexual needs when you have children. Inheritances affect your ability to take on creative projects. The occult is your hobby. Death is a hobby. You use the dead and dying influence your creative projects. You write funeral music. You bring intensity to your artistic projects. You are intensely, creatively, expressive. Your attitude to life and death influences the way you take risks. Bungee jumpers, sky divers. You probe people for your own amusement. The desire for peak emotional experiences compels you to engage in risky behavior.

Ruler of the 8th House in the 6th House

The activities of the 8th house serve the agenda of the 6th house. Transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep serve the need to be healthy, employed, have a routine and interact with animals. You deal with other people's stuff as part of your everyday job. You work as an accountant, estate planner, IRS worker, bookkeeper, trash collector, "used" store or mortuary. Death or transformation is part of your everyday working environment. Sexual activities are part of your everyday working environment. You engage in depth interactions with animals. You are an animal hospice care worker. You are involved in the sexual aspects of health, diet and fitness. You work with AIDS patients. You create or take herbal supplements for sexual enhancement. Sexual activities influence your health. You use your capacity for research and investigation in health and fitness fields. You experience peak emotions around animals. You have complex emotions surrounding health and diet. Work is emotionally turbulent. Sharing resources is an everyday habit. Sex is an everyday habit. You give your inheritance to the animal shelter. You have obsessive or intense everyday habits.

Ruler of the 8th House in the 7th House

The activities of the 8th house serve the agenda of the 7th house. Transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep serve cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations. You bring your debt to marriage. You have an intense approach to relationships. Shared resources come through business and marriage partnerships. You get emotionally entangled with your open enemies. Sex becomes an issue in marriage. You use your capacity for research and investigation in your business partnerships. You are part of a research team. You engage in research for contracts. Inheritances affect your marriage. Your attitude to life and death affects your significant relationships. Your capacity for deep emotional interactions with others can make your marriage easy or difficult. Your interest in the occult influences what type of marriage partner you will choose. You view sexual partners as potential marriage partners. Your ability to understand the motivations of other people helps you negotiate. Peak emotional experiences make you feel confrontational. You enter sexual relationships in search of a significant partnership.

Ruler of the 8th House in the 8th House

The activities of the 8th house serve the agenda of the 8th house. Transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep are an end unto themselves. You get emotionally entangled with other people to form deep connections. You need sex to form a deep connection with another person. Orgasm feels like transformation. Orgasm makes you deeply connect with another person. Orgasm feels like death. Sex is a shared resource. You research and investigate the motivations of other people. You investigate death. You investigate the debt and taxes that people owe. You're a debt collector. Your debt affects your sexual relationships. Inheritances affect your sexual relationships. Your attitude to life and death affects your ability to deeply connect with other people. Your emotional baggage affects your ability to deeply connect with other people. Your interest in the occult makes you explore death. You apply your occult knowledge to sexual relationships. You recycle because you understand the cycle of death and rebirth. You enter sexual relationships for sex.

Ruler of the 8th House in the 9th House

The activities of the 8th house serve the agenda of the 9th house. Transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep serve the need to expand your horizons, travel, and explore foreign cultures and philosophies. Emotional entanglements help you expand your horizons. Sexual activities expand your horizons. You seek sexual experiences with people of other cultures and backgrounds. You have complicated relationships with people from foreign countries. You become a spy in a foreign country. Your attitude to sex shapes your philosophy of life. Your relationship with death shapes your belief system. Research and investigation leads you to travel. You research and investigate other cultures, religions and belief systems. You are an investigative journalist. Inheritances go overseas. Your attitude to life and death affects your ability to get along with people with different belief systems. Your interest in the occult leads you to travel. Debt or tax evasion causes you to flee to another country. Sexual partners encourage you to travel. You reach peak emotional experiences through religion. Your sex life must fit in with your religious views. You get sexual gratification through religious practices.

Ruler of the 8th House in the 10th House

The activities of the 8th house serve the agenda of the 10th house. Transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep serve the need to build a reputation, gain recognition for achievements and find a vocation. Emotional entanglements help you find your true vocation. Sexual activities build your reputation. The ability to dig deep builds your reputation. You gain a reputation for being intense. You express sexuality in your profession. Your sexuality is widely recognized. You use research and investigation in your career. Your debts become public. Inheritances affect your social status. Your attitude to life and death affects the profession you choose. Your capacity for deep emotional interactions contributes to the recognition and awards you receive. The occult can become a profession. Your interest in death can lead to a vocation. Sexual partners boost your social status. Sexual partners help you gain recognition and awards. You make a career out of understanding other people's motivation. Sex is a way to climb the ladder of success. Your interest in recycling can make you well-known. Peak emotional experiences come through your vocation. You enter sexual relationships in search of social status. Shared resources affect your status. Sexual partners become involved in your professional life. Your ability to transform can help or hinder your career.

Ruler of the 8th House in the 11th House

The activities of the 8th house serve the agenda of the 11th house. Transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep serve connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans. You get emotionally entangled with friends. You bring your financial debts to group interactions. Debtors Anonymous. You express your interest in life and death through group activities. Sexual activities happen in groups. Group sex. You have a sexual approach to friendships. You find it hard to be "just friends." Your groups and clubs involve research and investigation. You join occult groups. You have to adjust your debt to achieve long term goals and dreams. Your attitude to life and death affects your capacity to become an icon. Your interest in the occult attracts fans. Your ability to understand the motivations of other people influences your friendships. You bring your need for depth interactions to friendships. You need to belong to groups of like-minded people who share your intensity.

Ruler of the 8th House in the 12th House

The activities of the 8th house serve the agenda of the 12th house. Transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep serve the need to release grief and sorrow, spend time alone, melt into formless bliss, escape from reality and become aware of the self-undoing. Emotional entanglements help you release grief and sorrow. Sexual activities help you release grief and sorrow. You research and investigate the paranormal. Inheritances can be the self-undoing. Debt can be the self-undoing. Tax evasion can be the self-undoing. Your attitude to life and death influences your interest in dreams and the paranormal.

You investigate dreams. You become a dream researcher or dream therapist. Dreams are intense experiences. Your capacity for deep emotional interactions with others can be a way for you to escape from daily responsibilities. Sex can be a way to escape from daily responsibilities. Sex can be the self-undoing. Your interest in the occult can be the self-undoing. Your interest in hidden things leads you to explore dreams and ghosts. Your understanding of the motivation of other people makes you want to be alone. Sexual experiences come through meditation. Peak emotional experiences come through charitable activities. You investigate the sexual activities of the incarcerated. Emotional baggage adds to your karma.

Ruler of the 9th House in Houses

Ruler of the 9th House in the 1st House

The activities of the 9th house serve the agenda of the 1st house. Expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and interactions with foreign cultures and belief systems serve the image, persona, behavior, mannerisms and appearance. Your broadmindedness is one of the first things people notice about you. Your desire for big experiences is one of the first things people notice about you. Your interest in other cultures, religions or belief systems is one of the first things people notice about you. Your level of education is one of the first things people notice about you. You are quick to tell people what you are studying and how many degrees you have. You are quick to mention where you went to school. The image you present is one of a person who is educated and well-traveled. Your interactions with people from different cultures impact the way you present yourself. Your interest in journalism is apparent. Your awareness of religious philosophy and metaphysics is apparent. Your religious views are apparent. Your belief system impacts your behavior and mannerisms. Your interest in religion influences your direction in life. Traveling influences your approach to life. People from other cultures have to adjust to your behavior and mannerisms. People who have a different religion or belief system have to adjust to your approach.

Ruler of the 9th House in the 2nd House

The activities of the 9th house serve the agenda of the 2nd house. Expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems serve financial stability, defining personal values and accumulating possessions. Interactions with people of other cultures help you define your values. Traveling helps you define your values. Traveling is a survival need. Religion is a survival need. Higher education is a survival need. You pursue expansion to make money. You find bigger and better ways to make money. You continuously expand your bank account. You interact with people of other cultures to make money. Relationships with foreigner people result in more personal income. Traveling is a way to earn money. Journalism can be a way to earn a living. Higher education can be a way to make money. Becoming a guru can be a way to make money. Your attitude to people of other cultures influences your basic survival needs. Your interest in religion can be a way to make money. Metaphysics can help pay the bills. Religion affects your self-esteem and self-worth. You view people of other cultures as possessions. Interacting with people of other cultures adds to your self-esteem. Traveling makes you feel physically secure. Foreign countries offer financial security. You find meaning through personal finance. Your belief system and religious views directly affect your personal values.

Ruler of the 9th House in the 3rd House

The activities of the 9th house serve the agenda of the 3rd house. Expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems serve communication, information gathering and everyday interactions. Traveling influences your communication style. You pick up an accent, you incorporate foreign words into everyday conversation and you talk about faraway places. Religion, philosophy and metaphysics influence your thinking. Your interest in religion compels you to write or keep a diary. Your interest in foreign cultures comes out in your writing. You teach local people about your traveling experiences. Religion is an everyday topic of conversation. You write for the local newspaper. You write a blog about religion. You have siblings from other cultures or religious upbringings. You make mountains out of molehills. You take your ability to think abstractly and bring it down to a conversational level. You talk about big ideas in everyday conversation. You write a travel blog. You expand through relationships with siblings. Getting involved with the local community expands your horizons. You find meaning through writing and literature. You believe that foreigners should speak your language. You find meaning in the written word. You find meaning in language.

Ruler of the 9th House in the 4th House

The activities of the 9th house serve the agenda of the 4th house. Expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems serve emotional security, building a psychological foundation, familial relationships, roots and heritage. Traveling and communicating with people of other cultures influences your core psychological makeup. You host foreign exchange students. Foreign people live with you. You become a journalist focusing on topics at home and in your own country. You explore your personal cultural heritage through journalism. You gain understanding about your personal cultural heritage by immersing yourself in other cultures. You experience the big issues like law, religion and culture in your personal environment. The big issues hit home. The big issues affect your family. You come from a family of lawyers. You come from a family of publishers. Your family is broadminded. Your family is religious or has a strong belief system. Religion is a family issue. Your attitude to people of other cultures influences how you behave in your own country. Traveling affects your emotional security. Traveling affects your family life. You find meaning in family and country. You believe that foreigners should adopt the customs of your country.

Ruler of the 9th House in the 5th House

The activities of the 9th house serve the agenda of the 5th house. Expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems serve creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children. You consider people of other cultures to be potential romantic partners. Traveling is for leisure and pleasure. You like to take romantic getaways. You adopt children from other countries, or some of your children are from other countries (stepchildren, for example). Traveling gives you opportunities for risk taking. Your interest in religion results in risky behavior. You try to influence the religious views of children. You teach bible study. You publish romance novels. You run a school for gifted children. You perform in religious plays. Your belief system influences what type of theater, music, photography or dance you like. You perform in a religious musical group. You enjoy the artistic expression of other cultures. Philosophy is a hobby. Studying religion and belief systems is a hobby. You're interested in sports played by foreign people. You are philosophical about the way you raise children. You find meaning through the creative arts.

Ruler of the 9th House in the 6th House

The activities of the 9th house serve the agenda of the 6th house. Expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems serve the need to be healthy, employed, have a routine and interact with animals. Your job involves traveling. You work as a travel agent. You work as a professor. You're a priest. Religion is part of your everyday routine. You have a fitness philosophy. You have a diet or nutrition philosophy. People from different cultures or religions are part of your everyday working environment. Higher education is the working environment. Your experiences traveling abroad influence your work. Your personal belief system affects your ability to find a job. Your personal belief system revolves around health, diet and fitness. You become a fitness, diet or health guru. Your interest in higher education influences your everyday work. Your interest in publishing influences what kind of working environment you choose. Your desire to travel influences what type of working environment you choose. You find meaning through work, daily habits, health and relationships with animals. Foreign people become your employees and coworkers.

Ruler of the 9th House in the 7th House

The activities of the 9th house serve the agenda of the 7th house. Expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems serve cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations. Foreign people are potential marriage partners. You bring a philosophical attitude to your significant relationships. You can be condescending to your partner. Your personal beliefs affect your ability to find a partner. You bring a religious outlook to marriage and relationships. Religion becomes an issue in marriage. Personal belief systems are an issue in marriage. Cultural background becomes an issue in marriage. In-laws affect your marriage. Your in-laws live with you. You want a partner who has an equal interest in traveling. You want a partner with the same religion or culture. You want a partner who has the same level of education. You want a partner who is equally interested in the big picture. You want a partner with an open mind. You want a philosophical partner. Your religious outlook affects your ability to relate to people. You find meaning through marriage and significant relationships. You marry or have a significant relationship with a person from a foreign country.

Ruler of the 9th House in the 8th House

The activities of the 9th house serve the agenda of the 8th house. Expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems serve transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep. You travel to find an intensity of experience. Traveling offers opportunities to explore the taboo. You expand your horizons through sexual experiences. You find the meaning of life through sex. Your pursuit of the meaning of life leads you to embrace peak experiences. You take metaphysical experimentation to the edge. Orgasm feels like a journey. You bring your knowledge of the law to issues of life and death. Your belief system revolves around death, life, rebirth and transformation. You have strong feelings about assisted suicide, abortion and the death penalty. You like to visit cemeteries. Culture is a shared resource. You study the sexual practices of other cultures. Your higher education revolves around research and investigation. Archaeologists. Ancient astronaut theorists. Your religion supports your attitude to life and death. Your belief system adjusts to meet your emotional baggage. You travel to expand your interest in the occult. Your philosophy of life revolves around your interest in the occult. Your personal belief system supports your sexual inclinations. Your interest in the law leads you to be a tax lawyer or estate lawyer. Theories about sex. Your interest in religion leads you to become a researcher.

Ruler of the 9th House in the 9th House

The activities of the 9th house serve the agenda of the 9th house. Expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems are an end unto themselves. You travel to expand your horizons. You become involved in metaphysics to expand your horizons. Learning about other cultures and their customs expands your outlook on life. Anthropologists. Seeking to learn more and more makes you feel expansive. You gain wisdom by traveling. You gain wisdom by learning about religion. You find meaning in higher education. You find meaning through philosophy. You find meaning by devising your own personal belief system. Your interest in religion or metaphysics leads you to become a guru. You become a cultural guru. You expand your horizons by trying the belief systems of other people. You live in foreign cultures to learn more about their customs. You become a missionary in a foreign country. You impose your religion or belief system on people of other cultures. You impose your customs on people with differing customs.

Ruler of the 9th House in the 10th House

The activities of the 9th house serve the agenda of the 10th house. Expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems serve our need to build a reputation, gain recognition for achievements and find a vocation. Publishing become your profession. You become a publisher because you like the status the profession gives. You become a corporate lawyer. You become a guru on corporate culture. You bring your personal belief system to your profession. Religion influences your professional decisions. An interest in metaphysics influences your choice of vocation. Interactions with people of other cultures play a part in the profession you choose. Traveling helps you become more widely known. Your personal belief system influences how widely known you become. You find meaning through your choice of vocation. You travel because it makes you seem important. You write about oil companies, rulers of nations and international crisis. Your religious views build your reputation. Journalism builds your reputation. Your education level builds your reputation. You apply your wisdom to gaining status and social standing. You receive awards and recognition for your academic achievements. You receive awards and recognition for your journalistic efforts. You expand your horizons through your choice of vocation.

Ruler of the 9th House in the 11th House

The activities of the 9th house serve the agenda of the 11th house. Expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems serve connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans. You join religious organizations. You join groups in which members share a belief. You push for education reform. You push your religious agenda on the rest of society. You push for the acceptance of fringe religious movements. You join an association for journalists. You belong to an academic club. You're a member of a cultural affairs committee. You find meaning through group involvement. You find meaning by being involved in social causes. You impose your personal beliefs on your friends. Your belief system has to adapt to your friendships. You find meaning in group experience. You explore metaphysical ideas in groups. Your interest in foreign culture leads you to make friends and acquaintances. Your interest in foreign cultures leads you to start social movements, for or against those people. Religion shapes your long term goals and dreams. Your capacity to become a guru determines how many fans and supporters you gain.

Ruler of the 9th House in the 12th House

The activities of the 9th house serve the agenda of the 12th house. Expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems serve the need to release grief and sorrow, spend time alone, melt into formless bliss, escape from reality and become aware of the self-undoing. Traveling helps you release grief and sorrow. Religion helps you release grief and sorrow. You adopt a belief system that helps you cope with grief and loss. Religion is about spending time alone. You expand your horizons through meditation. Your religious beliefs lead you to do charitable work. Your personal belief system leads you to become involved with inmates, the institutionalized or hospitalized. Your interest in the cultures of other people leads you to work or volunteer at a museum. You are open-minded about ghosts and the paranormal. You reach expanded states through dreams. Being overly expansive leads you to become spaced out. Being overly expansive can be the self-undoing. Your personal or religious beliefs can be the self-undoing. Your attitude to people of other cultures can be the self-undoing. Your attitude to religion influences your interest in dreams and the paranormal. Attitudes of intolerance can add to your karma. Fantasizing about religious martyrdom. Applying academic learning to spiritual pursuits.

Ruler of the 10th House in Houses

Ruler of the 10th House in the 1st House

The activities of the 10th house serve the agenda of the 1st house. Building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding a vocation serve the image, persona, behavior, mannerisms, appearance and self-awareness. Your professionalism is one of the first things people notice about you. Your desire for recognition and status is one of the first things people notice about you. You make people aware of your achievements. Your interest in your profession is apparent to other people. The profession you choose influences the way that you present yourself. You want to gain recognition to improve your attractiveness. Having authority makes you look more attractive. You present yourself as an authority. You dress to be seen as a professional. You dress in accordance with your vocation. Your social status affects the way you present yourself and the way that other people see you. Your career goals affect your approach to life. Your career is at the forefront of your concerns. You present an image of professionalism.

Ruler of the 10th House in the 2nd House

The activities of the 10th house serve the agenda of the 2nd house. Building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding a vocation serve financial stability, defining personal values and accumulating possessions. You want a career that fits your values. You want a vocation that boosts your self-esteem. Your career should provide you with financial security. Your career should give you a feeling of physical security in the world. You want awards and recognitions that result in earning more money. You attempt to increase your social status so you can increase your earning power. Gaining authority increases your self-esteem. Becoming an authority increases your net worth. Being considered an authority is a survival need. You become an authority on personal finance. You become an authority on self-esteem issues. Relationships with authority figures impact your money making ability. Relationships with authority figures impact your self-esteem. Your attitude to authority influences your survival needs.

Ruler of the 10th House in the 3rd House

The activities of the 10th house serve the agenda of the 3rd house. Building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding a vocation serve communication, information gathering and everyday interactions. The need to be seen as an authority influences the way you communicate. You communicate like an authority figure. You communicate like a professional. You communicate like a parent. Your profession is always on your mind. You write a blog for professionals. You keep a professional diary. You'd like your vocation to provide opportunities for making connections around town. You'd like to become known locally for the work that you do. You'd like to be a local celebrity. Your vocation involves writing. Your vocation involves conferencing, Skyping, phone calls, IMs, Facebook, Twitter, E-mail and other short correspondence. You get speaking engagements because of your professional status. Your authoritative stance makes you stand out in the local community. You act like a parent to your siblings. You act like the parent of your neighborhood. You take your professional experience to the local level. You teach people how to do what you do. You teach at a vocational school. You pass on information about career placement. You are a school guidance counselor. You pass on your professional experience through teaching and writing. You become an authority on your local area. You become an authority on the written word. You become an authority on language.

Ruler of the 10th House in the 4th House

The activities of the 10th house serve the agenda of the 4th house. Building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding a vocation serve emotional security, building a psychological foundation, familial relationships, roots and heritage. Relationships with authority figures have an impact on your core psychological makeup. Relationships with parents affect your emotional security. The recognition you receive from the outside world affects your emotional security. Your social status impacts your family. You bring an authoritative attitude to your home life. You set the rules at home. You find a way to live out your true vocation from the comfort of your own home. You bring your professional life home with you. Your status out in the world affects who you are at home. Your reputation affects how your family sees you. You build a reputation for yourself as a family man/woman. You build a reputation for yourself as a nurturer or caretaker. You become known for being a nurturer or protector. You use your status to help your country. You gain a reputation for the way you serve your country. You gain authority for serving your country. You become an authority on your personal heritage and culture. You become an authority on your family tree. You become an authority on your cultural roots.

Ruler of the 10th House in the 5th House

The activities of the 10th house serve the agenda of the 5th house. Building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding a vocation serve creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children. You build a reputation for being a flirt. You build a reputation for being a creatively expressive person. You build a reputation for being a gambler. You build a reputation for being a risk taker. Your professional life revolves around the arts. Your professional life involves children. You become a professional athlete. Your profession involves athletics. You bring an authoritative approach to music, theater, art and dance. You attempt to add structure to your creative impulses. You discipline children. You are a professional stage actor. You are an authority on children. You are an authority on sports. You are an authority on poker. You want to become known for your creativity. You want to be known for your relationships with children. You become known for your romances. You become known as a serial dater. You gain a reputation as an athlete. You bring a professional approach to your hobbies. Your parents influence your interest in the creative arts. You become an authority on music. You become an authority on dance. You become an authority on art. You become an authority on theater. You make a career out of a hobby.

Ruler of the 10th House in the 6th House

The activities of the 10th house serve the agenda of the 6th house. Building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding a vocation serve the need to be healthy, employed, have a routine and interact with animals. You build a reputation for your daily work performance. You become known for your work with animals. You become known for your involvement with fitness and diet. You become known as a workaholic. You discover your true vocation through an apprenticeship. You discover your true vocation through specializing. You become known as a specialist. You receive awards for fitness. Professional weight lifters. Professional animal activists. You become known as an authority on animals. Your vocation is dependent on your working environment. Your level of professionalism depends on your working environment. You want to work in a specific environment. Your true work requires you to be an employee rather than a boss. You bring a professional approach to the daily work environment. Your vocation revolves around health, diet and fitness. Your vocation involves lots of employee and coworker interactions. Your vocation requires you to work every day. Awards come through daily work. Your career involves mind-body integration. Your career involves daily practice.

Ruler of the 10th House in the 7th House

The activities of the 10th house serve the agenda of the 7th house. Building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding your vocation serve cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations. You gain recognition and social status through your partner. You are an authority on relationships (or you think you are). You act like a parent to your partner. You gain awards and recognition for your efforts in a partnership. You find your true vocation by working with a partner. Your profession involves working in one to one relationships. Your professional success is dependent on your ability to relate to other people. Your professional success is dependent on your ability to form significant relationships. You are an authority on marriage. You are an authority on business partnerships. You bring a professional approach to marriage. You treat your marriage like a career. You lay down the rules in marriage. You bring your outer expectations of success to your marriage. You want your marriage or partnership to live up to society's standards. What each partner does for a living can be an issue in a relationship or marriage. Each partner's social status can be an issue in marriage or partnership. Ideally the partners should have equal status and equal standing. Partners should have balanced careers. Partners should have the same ambitions and goals in mind. Partners should want to have the same achievements.

Ruler of the 10th House in the 8th House

The activities of the 10th house serve the agenda of the 8th house. Building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding a vocation serve transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep. Your career revolves around the need for intensity of experience. Your career needs to offer opportunities to explore the taboo. You gain a reputation for your sexual experiences. You find your true vocation by exploring occult subjects. You find your true vocation by exploring taboo subjects. Your true vocation is to be a tax collector. Your profession involves working with the dead. Your greatest achievement is orgasm. You become known for your sexuality. You become known for your association with the taboo or occult. You become known for your emotional baggage. Your public identity is hidden or obscured. You take your profession to the edge. Your profession involves transformation. You find your true vocation by transforming. You become an authority on occult topics. You become an authority on death. You become an authority on sex. You become an authority on taboo subjects. You bring a professional approach to taboo subjects. You bring a professional approach to depth psychology. Your true vocation involves sex. Your true vocation involves depth interactions with other people. You achieve recognition as a researcher. You receive awards for your work with people on the fringe of society. Your career involves working with other people's emotional baggage.

Ruler of the 10th House in the 9th House

The activities of the 10th house serve the agenda of the 9th house. Building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding a vocation serve expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems. You choose a profession that allows you to travel. You choose a profession that allows you to interact with people from other countries. You choose a profession that allows you to continually expand your horizons. You choose a profession that falls in line with your faith. You choose a profession that allows you to be academic. You become a priest. Your vocation revolves around your relationship with religion. You receive awards for academic achievements. You receive awards for your religious work. You choose a profession that allows you to search for higher meaning. Your vocation leads you to find meaning. Your social status and standing in society revolves around your interactions with the church. You bring an authoritative approach to religion, faith and belief. You bring an authoritative approach to academic learning. You bring an authoritative approach to traveling. You approach other cultures as an authority. You become an authority on foreign culture. You become an authority on religion and faith. You seek recognition for your religious work. You seek recognition through discovering higher truths. You have a parental approach to people of other cultures. You become a parent to someone from another country. Having a profession gives your life meaning. Having status and recognition gives your life meaning.

Ruler of the 10th House in the 10th House

The activities of the 10th house serve the agenda of the 10th house. Building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding a vocation are an end unto themselves. You need a profession. You need to find your true vocation. Getting out in the world and making a name for yourself is important to you. You want to be known for something. You want to be famous. You want to receive awards and recognition. You want to climb to the top of the mountain in whatever you choose to do. You are ambitious for the sake of being ambitious. You have an authoritative approach to career and vocation. You are ambitious in your profession. You want to reach the top of your profession. You want to become known for what you do. You want your day in the Sun. You become widely known for what you do. Your career builds your reputation. Your reputation builds your career. Your reputation precedes you. You become known for your achievements..."Oscar winner...", "Nobel Prize winner..." etc... You become known for your social status. You become known for your relationship with authority. You become known for acting like an authority. You become known as an authority on whatever type of work you choose to do. You are an authority on parental relationships. You are an authority on society's standards and expectations. You are an authority on achievement, awards and recognition.

Ruler of the 10th House in the 11th House

The activities of the 10th house serve the agenda of the 11th house. Building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding a vocation serve connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans. You have a professional approach to the groups you get involved with. Your true vocation involves the structure of organizations and groups. Your true vocation involves working with groups of like-minded people. Following your calling depends on your ability to gain friends and fans. You have a professional approach to friendship. You bring your need for recognition to your friendships. You choose friends who will boost your social status. You choose friends who will not outdo you in social status. You choose friends who have won awards and made achievements. You organize social movements. Your vocation involves working for social causes and movements. You bring your ideas about authority to your need for social reform. You want to reform society's standards. You want to reform society's expectations. You want to reform the role of authority. Your relationship with your parents influences what types of social causes you become involved with. Your ambitions influence your friendships. You belong to a professional club or guild. You're a member of a professional board. You belong to the board of directors. You have expectations for your friends. You expect your friends to be ambitious. Your ability to conduct yourself professionally influences how many fans you gain. Becoming famous results in a lot of fans. You want to be in a profession that has an audience. If you get famous, fan clubs will spring up. Fame allows you to help social causes.

Ruler of the 10th House in the 12th House

The activities of the 10th house serve the agenda of the 12th house. Building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding a vocation serve the need to release grief and sorrow, spend time alone, melt into formless bliss, escape from reality and become aware of the self-undoing. Finding your true vocation helps you release grief and sorrow. Becoming famous helps you release grief and sorrow. Becoming famous is the self-undoing. Becoming famous causes you to isolate. Becoming well-known is a fear. The desire for fame is the self-undoing. Fame enables you to help your favorite charities. Fame allows you to pursue your interest in the paranormal. Your social status causes you to retreat. Too much exposure makes you want to hide. Too much exposure makes you want to escape from reality. Your reputation makes you want to hide. Your relationship with your parents makes you want to escape from reality. Your true vocation involves working alone. Your true vocation involves working with prisoners, the insane, hospitalized or underprivileged. Your true vocation involves meditation or spirituality. Your true vocation involves working with the paranormal, developing psychic abilities or becoming a channel. Your true vocation involves working with people who have a strong urge to escape from everyday reality.

Ruler of the 11th House in Houses

Ruler of the 11th House in the 1st House

The activities of the 11th house serve the agenda of the 1st house. Connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans serve the image, persona, behavior, mannerisms, appearance and self-awareness. Your friendliness is one of the first things people notice about you. You approach life with a group or pack. You make people aware of your interest in social reform. Your interest in groups, clubs and causes is apparent to other people. Your friends influence the way that you present yourself. You hang out with people who make you look good. You approach life in a way that causes you to make connections with like-minded people. You are an individualist within the group. You dress to fit in with the groups you belong to. You view yourself as being part of movement. You adopt the behavior and mannerisms of the groups you belong to. Your social life is at the forefront of your concerns. Social causes are at the forefront of your concerns. You are a fanatic when it comes to your appearance. You have strong feelings of being part of humanity- or not belonging at all.

Ruler of the 11th House in the 2nd House

The activities of the 11th house serve the agenda of the 2nd house. Connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans serve financial stability, defining personal values and accumulating possessions. You belong to groups that revolve around making money. You belong to business associations. Your friends have an impact on your self-worth and self-esteem. Your ability to fulfill lifelong dreams affects your self-worth and self-esteem. Your long term goals involve becoming financially secure. Having friends makes you feel physically secure. Having friends gives you self-esteem. Having friends is a survival need. Being involved with social causes is a survival need. Your friendships affect your self-worth. Your friendships affect your net worth. The groups you belong to affect your net worth. Your friends influence your spending habits. Your long term goals involve your earning and spending habits. You think of your friends as possessions. You are possessive of the groups you belong to. Group activities affect your spending and earning habits. You are a fanatic when it comes to money and possessions. You want to reform attitudes to appearance. You are possessive of your friends.

Ruler of the 11th House in the 3rd House

The activities of the 11th house serve the agenda of the 3rd house. Connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans serve communication, information gathering and everyday interactions. Your friends influence the way you communicate. Social causes are on your mind and become the topic of everyday conversation. Your interest and involvement in social causes gives you something to write or blog about. You communicate like a friend, though sometimes in a fixed and opinionated way. Your long term goals are always on your mind. You write about the groups you belong to. You connect with your friends through every communication channel available. You love social networking. Your ability to connect with like-minded people has an effect on your ability to be a teacher or lecturer. You bring your interest in social causes to your local community. You become involved in local groups, committees and movements. Your friendships involve conferencing, Skyping, phone calls, IM, Facebook, Twitter, E-mail and other short correspondence. You get speaking engagements because of your group involvements. Your involvement in the community makes you stand out locally. You are friends with your siblings. You want the people in your neighborhood to take up your causes. You never stop talking about your causes and social movements. You have an uncanny ability to connect with people at a local level. You know everyone in town. Your fans are local. You are a fanatic when it comes to language and the written word.

Ruler of the 11th House in the 4th House

The activities of the 11th house serve the agenda of the 4th house. Connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans serve emotional security, building a psychological foundation, familial relationships, roots and heritage. Relationships with friends have an impact on your core psychological makeup. Group relationships affect your emotional security. Your ability to connect with the rest of humanity affects your emotional security. Your friends come to live with you. Your friends are part of your family. The groups you get involved with are like family. Your friends are your family. Your friends have to fit in to your family life. You bring a cool and detached attitude to your home life and family. You treat your family members like friends. You are opinionated when it comes to home, family, roots and tradition. You connect with groups of people who share your cultural inheritance and traditions. You belong to traditional groups and organizations. You champion causes involving home, tradition, families and mothering. You create groups for members of your culture. You create groups for your family. You create groups for traditional activities. You want your friendships to have a family feel. You want close, private friendships. You enjoy hanging out with your friends in the comfort of your own home. You hold group meetings in your house. You are a fanatic when it comes to your country or heritage. You want to reform attitudes to your country.

Ruler of the 11th House in the 5th House

The activities of the 11th house serve the agenda of the 5th house. Connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans serve creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children. You try to bed all of your friends. You've dated all of your friends. You belong to artistic groups. You're in a band. You are a huge fan of the arts. You're a groupie. You attend every play, performance or concert that you can. You are the ultimate sports fan. Your friends are creative people. The people you connect with are self-expressive and entertaining. You have long term goals involving gambling. You have hopes and dreams involving sports. Your long terms hopes and dreams involve the creative arts. You get involved with risky groups. You associate with people who take risks. You belong to a youth group. You create groups for children. You run a creative arts center for children. You run a dance studio for kids. You participate in online gambling. You have an objective approach to the arts. You have an objective approach to children. You are friends with your children. You take up social causes on behalf of children, the arts or sports. You are friends with all your romantic partners. You are a member of online dating services. You are a fanatic about your hobbies. You bring your social awareness to your children.

Ruler of the 11th House in the 6th House

The activities of the 11th house serve the agenda of the 6th house. Connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans serve the need to be healthy, employed, have a routine and interact with animals. You are friends with the people you work with. Your friends fit into your daily routine. You create a group to work out together. You create a group that diets together. Your groups involve animals. You become involved in groups on behalf of animals. You become involved in organizations relating to your job. You meet like-minded people who become part of your daily environment. Groups are part of your daily environment. You bring a group mentality to your daily work. You find it easier to deal with daily tasks when you're surrounded by friends. You like working with friends.

You have long term goals and wishes relating to diet and exercise. You meet like-minded people through your work with animals. You meet like-minded people through work. You meet like-minded people through your interest in diet and exercise. The groups you join involve a certain amount of specialization. You are a member of a trade union or guild. You create a group based on your work. You create a group based on your interest in a skilled trade. You are a fanatic about your routine. You are a fanatic when it comes to pets. You are a fanatic when it comes to your daily work environment. You bring your interest in social causes to your work environment. You want to reform attitudes to diet, health and exercise.

Ruler of the 11th House in the 7th House

The activities of the 11th house serve the agenda of the 7th house. Connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans serve cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations. You bring your interest in social causes and movements to your partnerships. Friends become business or marriage partners. Friends become significant others. People you meet over the internet have the potential to become significant partners. You bring your friends into your significant relationships. You commit to clubs and groups. You want your partner to approve of your friends. You look to your partner to approve of the causes and movements you become involved with. You look to your partner to support and fulfill your long term hopes and dreams. Your groups are something to argue about. You realize your hopes and wishes through a significant partner. You are your partner's greatest fan. You are a fan of debate. You like to debate about social reform. Your friendships feel like a marriage. You bring an attitude of detached friendship to your significant relationships. You treat your marriage partner like a friend. You look to your significant other to fulfill your hopes and dreams. You want your marriage to have a higher social purpose. You want your marriage to be the blending of two like-minded individuals. You want your partner to have the same long term hopes and dreams. You want your partner to share an equal interest in the same causes that you are interested in. You want to reform attitudes to marriage.

Ruler of the 11th House in the 8th House

The activities of the 11th house serve the agenda of the 8th house. Connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans serve transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep. Your causes involve an intensity of experience. Your causes involve taboo subjects. Your causes bring up strong emotional reactions in other people. Your groups offer opportunities to explore the taboo. You create groups of like-minded people an interest an interest in occult subjects. You are interested in group sex. You find friends because of your interest in sex. You connect with strangers through your interest in taboo subjects. You look to your sex partner to fulfill your long term hopes and dreams. You belong to a sex club. You associate with people who are involved in the occult. Your friends have emotional baggage. You keep your group involvements hidden. You belong to a secret society. You don't talk about your associates. You don't talk about the groups you belong to. You don't talk about your long term hopes and wishes. Your groups offer opportunities for transformation. You bring a detached and experimental attitude to sex. You bring an objective eye to the subject of death. You make connections with people because of your debt. You connect with strangers because of your sexual experiences. You make connections with strangers through shared experiences involving the occult or taboo. You join debtors anonymous.

Ruler of the 11th House in the 9th House

The activities of the 11th house serve the agenda of the 9th house. Connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans serve expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems. Your friends reinforce your opinions about people from other cultures, for better or worse. Your friends take part in the same religion that you do. You friends are travel companions. You make friends when you expand your horizons. You make friends when you travel. You make friends through a mutual interest in academia, journalism or publishing. Your friends are lawyers. You form travel groups or travel clubs. You organize trips for your organization. You plan trips for the groups you belong to. You plan trips with your friends. You enjoy having traveling companions. You look to religion to fulfill your long term hopes and wishes. You make friends with people who see the big picture. Your friends are philosophical.

You friends are opinionated and have a strong belief system. Your long term wishes involve the accumulation of knowledge. You belong to academic groups. You belong to associations for lawyers. You are a member of the clergy. Your friends should have a shared interest in discovering the meaning of life. Your friends should have a shared interest in traveling. You belong to groups that have international membership.

Ruler of the 11th House in the 10th House

The activities of the 11th house serve the agenda of the 10th house. Connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans serve building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding a vocation. You climb to the top with the help of friends. The organizations you belong to give you a boost up. You make friends through your profession. You become friends with celebrities. You become involved in various groups and organizations to enhance your reputation and gain public exposure. Your involvement in social reform makes you famous. Your friends make you famous. You become well known for your causes. You become well known because of your fans. You become well known for the audiences you attract. You make friends to improve your status. You make friends to gain recognition. You receive awards for your involvement in the global community. You receive awards for your humanitarian efforts. You make a cause famous. You bring social issues out into public awareness. You make your friends famous. You bring your friends into the limelight. You become well known for being part of a group. You become well known for your group efforts. You become well known for having an individual voice within a movement. You have a democratic approach to your professional life. Your involvement in groups can lead to a career. You can turn a cause into a full time career. Social reform can become a profession. You are a fanatic when it comes to your profession. The members of your groups make you an authority.

Ruler of the 11th House in the 11th House

The activities of the 11th house serve the agenda of the 11th house. Connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans are an end unto themselves. You make friends for friendship's sake. You expect nothing from your friends except friendship. You make friends with people who share your interests. You make friends through the groups you are involved in. Your friends become your greatest fans. Your fans become your greatest friends. Your friends make up your audience. You share your creativity to gain an audience or fan base. You are detached and aloof in friendship. You share an interest in social reform with your friends. You share an interest in social causes with your friends. Your friends share your long term wishes and hopes. You form a social movement with your friends. You turn your fan base into a movement. You share your causes with your fans. Your long term wishes and hopes involve social reform. You want to reform your friends. Your friends impose their social causes onto you. You champion your friends' causes. You become involved in the groups that your friends start. You start a club with your friends. You only have casual acquaintances- no true friends. You are friends with your friends' friends. Your view on social reform influences who you become friends with. You become a member of global awareness groups. You and your friends start a movement. You are a fanatic when it comes to social reform. You don't let anyone get close. You join groups to feel like you belong.

Ruler of the 11th House in the 12th House

The activities of the 11th house serve the agenda of the 12th house. Connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans serve the need to release grief and sorrow, spend time alone, melt into formless bliss, escape from reality and become aware of the self-undoing. Friends help you release grief and sorrow. You join support groups for the grief-stricken. Your groups involve inmates, charities or the underprivileged. You start a group in a hospital. You start an organization involving prisoners or the jail system. You push for social reform in prisons. You push for social reform in hospitals. You push for reform in museums. Your causes champion the needy. Your causes include raising awareness of paranormal activity. You become involved in a group of mediums or psychics. You join a psychic network. You join a support group for people with family in prison. Groups bring out your worst fears. You meditate in a group. Your friends are escapist. Your friends are drug addicts or other people seeking to escape the obligations of everyday reality. You belong to groups that promote spirituality. You organize large groups of people for spiritual retreats. You organize a hospital. Your long term hopes and wishes involve finding a place where you can retreat. Too much group activity makes you want to be alone. Your friends cause you a lot of grief and sorrow. Your friends share your interest in ghosts, psychic activity and the paranormal. Your friends are in prison. Your friends are monks. Your friends are ethereal and spiritual. You share a mutual interest in meditation with your friends. Your friends need a lot of alone time. You'd rather be by yourself. You are a fanatic when it comes to paranormal activity.

Ruler of the 12th House in Houses

Ruler of the 12th House in the 1st House

The activities of the 12th house serve the agenda of the 1st house. Releasing grief and sorrow, solitude, escapism, psychic activity and becoming aware of self-sabotage serve the image, persona, behavior, mannerisms, appearance and self-awareness. Your sorrow is one of the first things people notice about you. You create an image of yourself as a person who has suffered. You create an image of yourself as a victim. Your experiences in prison or with people on the fringe of society shape your behavior and approach to life. You are a loner. You make people aware of your pain. Experiences with psychic phenomena shape your approach to life. Your awareness of the paranormal and interest in otherworldly experiences is apparent to other people. You have a spiritual outlook. Your approach is ethereal and hard to pinpoint. Experiences of grief and loss shape your outlook on life. You undermine yourself by associating with people who don't have your best interests at heart. Your secret enemies influence how you present yourself. Your secret enemies impact your physical appearance. Feelings of sorrow and loss influence the way you dress and style yourself. Interactions with spirits, and meditation, affect how you dress and behave. You have a ghostly countenance. You look sad. Helping those in need is at the forefront of your concerns. You have trouble dealing with everyday reality. You bring imagination to your appearance. The self-undoing comes through your behavior and the way you present yourself. You want to merge with everything. You lose your boundaries as you approach life.

Ruler of the 12th House in the 2nd House

The activities of the 12th house serve the agenda of the 2nd house. Releasing grief and sorrow, solitude, escapism, psychic activity and becoming aware of self-sabotage serve financial stability, defining personal values and accumulating possessions. You desire to escape from the reality of having to earn a living. You earn a living through your work in a prison, museum, hospital or other institution. Your feelings of grief and loss impact your self-worth and self-esteem. Meditation, dream work and spiritual practice affect your self-worth and self-esteem. Dream work can be a way to earn extra money. Meditation can be a way to earn a living. Spiritual pursuits can bring financial stability. You turn your spiritual or paranormal interests into a viable income. You dream of money. Being involved in spiritual pursuits is a survival need. Having time alone is a survival need. Being able to escape once in a while is a survival need. You attend retreats to revitalize your self-worth and self-esteem. Meditation increases your self-worth and self-esteem. Experiences of loss and grief impact your personal values. Being involved in charitable work is a survival need. Your escapes from reality affect your financial stability. You may find a way to use your time alone to increase your net worth. Working alone is a way to earn more money. You spend money on your spiritual and paranormal interests. Constant grief causes you to spend a lot of money. Spirituality is something to own. You spend money learning how to become more spiritual, how to do meditation techniques and how to contact paranormal entities. You're a part-time ghost hunter or channel. You bring imagination to the way you earn a living. The self-undoing comes through money and possessions. You want to merge with your possessions. You lose your boundaries when it comes to self-worth and money.

Ruler of the 12th House in the 3rd House

The activities of the 12th house serve the agenda of the 3rd house. Releasing grief and sorrow, solitude, escapism, psychic activity and becoming aware of self-sabotage serve communication, information gathering and everyday interactions. You write about paranormal and psychic phenomena. You write books about meditation and spiritual practice. You're a meditation teacher. You teach people how to contact spirit guides. You have a haunting singing voice. You write or blog about your experiences with people in prison. You work in the hospital dispatch. You are a museum docent. You give voice to your fears. You talk about the things that upset you on a daily basis. Sorrow, grief and loss occupy your mind on a daily basis. Your fears influence the way you communicate in everyday situations. You have frequent conversations with people in institutions. People in need are part of your everyday social circle. You have experienced sorrow and loss in your relationships with your siblings. You talk about things that make you sad. Your imagination is stirred by talking and writing. You work your dreams into your daily conversations and writing. You have a dreamy voice. You bring imagination to your writing and the way that you speak. The self-undoing comes through vehicles. The self-undoing comes through siblings. You want to merge through communication. You lose your boundaries when communicating.

Ruler of the 12th House in the 4th House

The activities of the 12th house serve the agenda of the 4th house. Releasing grief and sorrow, solitude, escapism, psychic activity and becoming aware of self-sabotage serve emotional security, building a psychological foundation, familial relationships, roots and heritage. Sorrow and loss directly impact your core psychological makeup. Loneliness affects your emotional security. Dreams affect your emotional security. You experience sadness and loss through family relationships. You experience grief and sorrow through parental relationships. You take people into your home who are down on their luck. You start a halfway house. You open your home to those in need. You are involved with a homeless shelter. You live with people who do not have your best interests at heart. Your secret enemies are in your own home. Your home is a refuge. You need privacy and alone time at home. You are a recluse. The self-undoing comes through family. The self-undoing comes through cultural ties. The self-undoing comes through experiences with your ancestry or roots. The self-undoing is a family legacy. You bring a dreamy and otherworldly presence to your family and home life. You practice spirituality, prayer and meditation in the privacy of your own home. Charity begins at home. You bring imagination to your home. You want to merge with your home and family. You lose your boundaries when it comes to home and family. Haunted house.

Ruler of the 12th House in the 5th House

The activities of the 12th house serve the agenda of the 5th house. Releasing grief and sorrow, solitude, escapism, psychic activity and becoming aware of self-sabotage serve creativity, personal self-expression, risk-taking, hobbies, romance and interactions with children. Your experiences of grief and sorrow influence your creative work. You express your pain through music, art, theater, photography or dance. You bring a dream-like quality to your artistic performances. You channel entities from other worlds through your creative process. You are involved in a prison athletics program. You work in a museum because of your love of art. You work in a children's hospital. You help charities through sports activities. You are creative when you are alone. You express spirituality through artistic projects. You compose spiritual music. You paint spiritual images. You meditate on paintings. You create music for meditation. You take dream-like photographs. You experience loss in relationships with your children. You experience grief and sorrow in relationships with children. You escape everyday reality by plunging into your hobbies. You escape everyday reality by having affairs. You escape reality by having frivolous sex. There's a sense of loss even when you're having fun. Meditation is fun for you. Spiritual retreats satisfy your sense of fun. Exploring spirituality and the paranormal are pleasurable for you. Ghosts become lovers. You encourage your children to be open to the possibility of ghosts and other worlds. You experience grief and sorrow through romance. You bring imagination to your art. The self-undoing comes through romance. You want to merge with your art or with your children. You lose your boundaries when it comes to your children.

Ruler of the 12th House in the 6th House

The activities of the 12th house serve the agenda of the 6th house. Releasing grief and sorrow, solitude, escapism, psychic activity and becoming aware of self-sabotage serve the need to be healthy, employed, have a routine and interact with animals. You experience sadness and loss through relationships with animals. You get in touch with your spiritual side through animals. Dreams offer health advice. Work with charity is part of your everyday routine. Being in a hospital, prison, or other institutional environment is part of your everyday work routine. You experience loss, grief and sadness routinely. You cope with sorrow one day at a time. The desire to escape reality affects your ability to hold a job. You are dreamy and unfocused in your daily work. You bring imagination to your daily work. You find it easier to deal with daily tasks when you're alone. You are unfocused when it comes to diet and exercise. You experience loss and sorrow through relationships with coworkers and employees. Secret enemies come in the form of employees and coworkers. You bring a spiritual approach to your interest in diet and health. You use meditation techniques to improve your health. You lose your job more than the average person. You experience sorrow and loss through health issues. Being alone too much causes health issues. You have an imaginative approach to diet and health. You desire to escape from daily life. You desire to escape from health concerns. You interact with spirits through animals. The self-undoing comes through health. The self-undoing comes through animals. The self-undoing comes through a coworker. You want to merge with your work. You experience sorrow through servitude.

Ruler of the 12th House in the 7th House

The activities of the 12th house serve the agenda of the 7th house. Releasing grief and sorrow, solitude, escapism, psychic activity and becoming aware of self-sabotage serve cooperation, conflict, significant partnerships and negotiations. You experience sadness and loss through significant relationships. You get in touch with your spiritual side through marriage and committed partnership. You marry an ex-con. Dreams show you your marriage partner. You have an otherworldly, spiritual connection with your significant other. Involvements with people who need help affect your significant relationships. Your grief and sorrow affect your relationships. You sadness to your partners. Your experiences with loss and sadness fuel a business venture. You become a lawyer on behalf of a hospital or charitable organization. Your interest in paranormal and psychic phenomena affects your significant partnerships. Being in a hospital, prison, or other institutional environment is a way to meet that someone special. You experience loss, grief and sadness when you try to relate to other people. The desire to escape reality affects your ability to maintain a serious relationship. Your approach to significant relationships is dreamy and unfocused. You bring imagination to your partnerships. You sabotage yourself in significant partnerships. You want to experience complete bliss with your partner. You experience complete merging with your partner. Your partner desires to escape from reality as much as you do. You lose your boundaries when it comes to significant relationships. You transcend boundaries through significant relationships.

Ruler of the 12th House in the 8th House

The activities of the 12th house serve the agenda of the 8th house. Releasing grief and sorrow, solitude, escapism, psychic activity and becoming aware of self-sabotage serve transformation, attitudes to life and death, other people's resources, sex and the desire to dig deep. You experience sadness and loss through being indebted to other people. The self-undoing comes through debt. The self-undoing comes through sex. You experience sorrow through sex. You get in touch with your spiritual side through sexual relationships and experiencing death. Dreams encourage you to dig deep. Dreams bring out the detective or psychologist in you. You have an otherworldly, spiritual approach to sexual relationships. People who need your help become sex partners. Sad experiences catalyze sexual relationships. Your experiences of grief and sorrow affect your sexual relationships. You bring imagination to sex. Your experiences of loss and sadness affect how you deal with debt. Your experiences of grief and sadness affect how you approach sex. Your interest in paranormal and psychic phenomena affects your sexual relationships. An interest in psychic activity fuels your research. You become a psychic detective. You become a dream analyst. You become a grief counselor. You become an inmate psychologist. The desire to escape reality affects your ability to deal with your debt. You desire to escape from reality through sex. You desire to escape from reality through death. You find it easier to deal with daily tasks when you're deeply supported by someone else. You want to experience complete bliss with your sexual partners. You want to experience complete merging with your sexual partners. You want a sexual partner who desires to escape from reality as much as you do. You lose your boundaries when it comes to sex and debt. You transcend boundaries when digging deep.

Ruler of the 12th House in the 9th House

The activities of the 12th house serve the agenda of the 9th house. Releasing grief and sorrow, solitude, escapism, psychic activity and becoming aware of self-sabotage serve expanding horizons, traveling, publishing, and exploring foreign cultures and belief systems. You experience sadness and loss by traveling and becoming involved with people from other countries. You become aware of grief and sadness in the world by traveling and seeing how other people live. The self-undoing comes through your belief system. The self-undoing comes through religion. The self-undoing comes through dogmatic viewpoints. You experience sorrow through the law. You experience sadness through higher education. You get in touch with your spiritual side by pursuing higher education. You get in touch with your spiritual side by traveling. Dreams offer a way to travel. Dreams bring out the explorer in you. You have an otherworldly or spiritual approach to religion and faith. Your experiences of loss and sadness affect your relationship with faith and religion. Your experiences of grief and sadness affect your approach to people of other cultures. Your interest in paranormal and psychic phenomena affects your belief system. An interest in psychic activity fuels your desire to travel. Your interest in psychic activity compels you to become a journalist. The desire to escape reality influences your religious practices. Your desire to escape from reality urges you to travel. You desire to escape from reality through endless wandering. You want to experience complete bliss with your higher power. You want to experience complete merging with your deity of choice. You indulge in meditative practices that encourage expansive states. You use peyote, LSD and other reality-distorting drugs. You lose your boundaries when it comes to expanding your horizons. You transcend boundaries when exploring the big picture.

Ruler of the 12th House in the 10th House

The activities of the 12th house serve the agenda of the 10th house. Releasing grief and sorrow, solitude, escapism, psychic activity and becoming aware of self-sabotage serve building a reputation, gaining recognition for achievements and finding a vocation. You experience sadness and loss through relationships with authority. The self-undoing comes through ambition and public standing. The self-undoing comes through parental relationships. You experience sorrow through your reputation. You get in touch with your spiritual side by achieving your goals. Dreams encourage you to climb to the top of your profession. Dreams bring out the inner CEO. You have an otherworldly, spiritual approach to achievement, career and recognition. You bring spiritual awareness to your career pursuits. Your experiences of grief and sorrow impact your climb to the top. You bring imagination to your profession. Your experiences of grief and sadness affect the recognition you receive. Your interest in paranormal and psychic phenomena becomes widely known. Your losses become widely known. Your grief and sadness become public. Your psychic abilities become public knowledge. An interest in psychic activity fuels your career direction. The desire to escape reality affects your ability to make concrete achievements in life. You become known for your escapist tendencies. You want to experience complete bliss with the world at large. You want to experience complete merging with your public identity. You lose your boundaries when it comes to your ambitions. You transcend boundaries when you reach for your dreams.

Ruler of the 12th House in the 11th House

The activities of the 12th house serve the agenda of the 11th house. Releasing grief and sorrow, solitude, escapism, psychic activity and becoming aware of self-sabotage serve connecting with like-minded people, attitudes to social reform, long term hopes and dreams, and gaining friends and fans. You experience sadness and loss through friends. You become aware of grief and sadness in the world by participating in social causes. The self-undoing comes through group involvement. The self-undoing comes through mob mentality. The self-undoing comes through group thought. You experience sorrow through social injustice. You experience sadness through the loss of cherished hopes and dreams. You get in touch with your spiritual side through group activities. You get in touch with your spiritual side by joining like-minded individuals. Dreams show the way to achieve hopes and dreams. Dreams bring out the social reformer in you. You have an otherworldly or spiritual approach to group activities. You can be muddled and confused in groups. Experiences of loss and sadness affect your friendships. Your interest in paranormal and psychic phenomena affects what types of groups you join. An interest in psychic activity influences the friends you make. Your interest in psychic activity compels you to form a club or organization. The desire to escape reality influences the friends you choose. Your friends want to escape as much as you do. You desire to escape from reality by merging with the crowd. You desire to escape from reality by merging with your friends. You merge with the social causes you participate in. You merge with the movements you become involved in. You lose your boundaries in groups. You transcend boundaries when you try to make a difference through social reform. You merge with your fans.

Ruler of the 12th House in the 12th House

The activities of the 12th house serve the agenda of the 12th house. Releasing grief and sorrow, solitude, escapism, psychic activity and becoming aware of self-sabotage serve themselves. You lose yourself in grief and sadness. You let go into sorrow. You merge with your spiritual side through experiences of grief and loss. You desire to escape from sadness. Meditation offers a way to escape from reality. You retreat because you need time alone. Being alone is a way to deal with sorrow. Being alone makes you sad. Loneliness causes you pain and sorrow. Your psychic abilities help you merge with the spiritual world. You are a psychic channel. You have a psychic connection to ghosts or other paranormal entities. You become aware of grief and sadness in the world through your involvement with charities, social work and those less fortunate. You experience sadness and grief through incarceration. You feel lonely because you become hospitalized. The self-undoing comes through spending too much time alone. The self-undoing comes through imprisonment. The self-undoing comes through people you are trying to help. The self-undoing comes through overly merging with other people. You get in touch with your spiritual side by becoming a monk. You get in touch with your spiritual side by exploring dreams. Dreams offer a way to merge with the collective unconscious. You have an otherworldly or spiritual approach to prisoners. You offer spiritual counsel to prisoners. Overly merging with spirits or spiritual experiences is the self-undoing. Being too open to subconscious influences is the self-undoing. Your overly expanded consciousness is unable to discern what is real and what is not. You have a profound imagination. You are highly sensitive.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Astrotheme.com. 2010. <<http://www.astrotheme.com/>>

Bloch, Douglas and Demetra George. Astrology for Yourself. Ibis: Florida, 2006.

Hamaker-Zondag, Karen. The House Connection. HarperCollins: Australia, 1997.

March, Marion and Joan McEvers. The Only Way to Learn Astrology, vol. III. Ibis: Florida, 2006

ABOUT

Michelle Falis is the author of the blog AstroFix *the blog of an astrology addict. She lives in the United States.

Follow AstroFix on Twitter or Tumblr, become a Facebook fan, subscribe to the blog for free via RSS or E-mail.