Sometimes assumptions about those most close to you can turn out to be misperceived, and the next three weeks gives you a chance to take a second look. You can nip problems in the bud and smooth potentially ruffled feathers, including your own, where things have been taken for granted and are slowing down progress. Mending ties to others can make for stronger relationships if you are ready to address small problems and so prevent them from growing. In the same way, good fences make good neighbors, and keeping your own integrity may be part of it, so don't do others' jobs, but let equality have play.

Mercury Stationary Direct in 07th House

As you turn the corner toward clarity after a few weeks of unasked-for change, you realize that no one was to blame. What seemed like mistakes were simply different roads to the same destination and it's clear that keeping your eye on the ball and not on the pitcher is the only way to go. Resolving differences is the surest way to a strong partnership, especially when driven by a common goal. You can look forward to a backward look that may give you a boost in the coming month or so, so keep those eyes in the back of your head wide open. Tomorrow's prize lies in the hand of another, so be ready to shake it.

What you would like others to think about you can become a focus in this period. What is your reputation worth -- and, in fact, what is your reputation, anyway? The surest way to attain success is to define it well to begin with -- you can't get what you want if you don't know what it is. You may discover that what you are worried about not attaining is actually not what you want to attain in the first place, clearing the decks for real personal success. In the end, willingly redefining goals and clarifying expectations can make this a time that will both bring forth fruit and plant the seeds for another crop.

Establishing yourself in others' eyes means making decisions about what it is you want said about you. If you're mixed up about that, then that will be your image. So after a recent period of uncertainty and changing choices, now is the time to start making your selections and letting them be known abroad. Rewrite your personal resumé -- whether for employment or just life itself -- to reflect not only who you are and what you have done, but where you're going and what you want out of life. Put the words into others' mouths before they do it for themselves, and you'll find yourself self-tailored for success.

Sometimes when you choose to lean on friends, you find they're leaning on you already, and then everybody gets confused. The next three weeks give you the chance to discover and address this kind of situation so that good feelings remain all around and everyone is back on a mutual course. One reason this can happen to begin with is that you may have been paying too much attention to your own goals and aspirations and lost track of your personal support grouping. A little healthy self-introspection may help your own ambitions find better focus and general support where you can most rely on it.

Mercury Conjunct Sun (Retrograde)

Mercury's reversal directly on your Sun is a road sign for coming reevaluation of your fundamental energies, the way you project yourself from the inside out. Perhaps it is time to again put to words and rephrase just what it is that you're all about, and fine-tune your inner beacon's lens so that your light shines more clearly on the world. The message is: Don't take yourself for granted and don't let precious resources sit idly by when you can put all your balls in play. Don't just deal from a full deck, but from a full and knowing heart, without reservation.

Mercury Conjunct Neptune (Retrograde)

Mercury backing off your Neptune may mean putting your fantasies on hold until you've more thoroughly figured them out. Groping blindly in the mist will not serve you well -- better to be still so you can better hear what may be moving about. If fond hopes disappoint, it is perhaps because you have not framed them in a fashion where they can become reality. One wish leads to another only if you don't cling to the first one -- be ready to reload your camera and take another shot. When the pictures are developed down the road, you'll see clearly what you had only imagined was there.

You may have found the last few weeks have required you to spend some time pinning down just who your real friends are. Misplaced expectations can make for delay, but once you've separated the wheat from the chaff you'll have a better idea of who is really in the game. Now is the time to nail down those connections who had been hovering in the wings, time to get the message through to the ones who matter. That's important because you may soon need a shoulder to lean on, or at least a reliable counterpart who can help provide focus and serve as radar when the fog rolls in.

Mercury Conjunct Neptune

Mercury swinging around on your Neptune may not completely get you out from recent weeks' fog, but it will allow you to begin to get your bearings. Trust your instincts, not your eyesight, and feel free to feel your way. Spend more time living your life like poetry instead of prose, putting your emotions into words and your spiritual aspirations into print. You don't have to show it to anybody, just yourself -- you have to hitch yourself to a dream for it to come true, so start hitching. When you can put your finger on what it is you want, then it is more likely to fall within your grasp.

Mercury Conjunct Sun

Mercury turning back to action on your Sun means this three-week period of reshifting is best rid of through the sheer force of your personality. Where things had gotten tangled, a willing smile and a positive attitude will cut through the confusion and clear up misunderstandings. Where you might have done well before to delay and see which way the wind blows, now you can be the wind itself and blow away the mists that may have limited visibility for all concerned. Don't expect instant sunshine, but you can count on clearing skies and relieving rays to decorate the coming days.

Refurbishing goals can be at a premium during this period, but resolving and accomplishing them may be harder than it first appears. The key is to hammer out one central approach from many, and don't be afraid to compromise. What benefits all benefits each, though it may not seem so at the beginning. The trick is to resolve details without getting bogged down in them. Feel free to sweat the small stuff later if you can agree on the general direction. You have to know where you are headed before you can steer -- and one of the best ways to find that out is to look back where you've been.

Finding headway where needed credit and outside support are concerned may lately have turned into a comedy of errors -- not so amusing, but times are changing and the last laugh is still ahead. Where you have met with diminishing returns, back off and run with a single new plan that will be more worth the extra effort. Where you put the extra is everything -- don't spread it around, focus it. You're more likely to get what you really push for than what you simply toy with. Point the backing you seek toward new directions you'd like to power and others will more easily sign on for the ride.

The next three weeks may well mark a lot of ebbs and swirls in the social fabric you move in, with associates backing and filling and sometimes seeming less than reliable. No blame here, just a general reshuffling until everyone feels comfortable with their positions, including yourself. Try to work on removing obstacles to the flow and diplomatically shift your schedule according to who better fits your evolving agenda. Toward the end, you may have to call into question some aspects of your financial underpinnings in order to effectively make contact and cause others' goals to come into step with your own.

Several weeks of greater confusion than you'd have liked are on their way out and you can get back to what you were doing with a bit more confidence and sense of purpose. Getting roadblocks out of the way allows you to chart a surer course and feel better about what you are doing and what kind of commitments you can make and live up to. Red herrings and detours can be put behind you as you get back onto a map everybody can buy into. The cost of delays and uncertainties is made up for by knowing that they no longer impede and that you can now throttle up and get on some real speed.
